ITALY MAY HAVE NEW GENERAL MOBILIZATION

Fascist Grand Council, Presided Over by Mussolini, Said to Be Considering Move as League of Nations Committee Discusses Possibilities of Oil Embargo; Tightening of League Sanctions Foreshadowed

Canadian Press from Havas

Rome, Feb. 3.—General mobilization for Italy is being considered by the Fascist Grand Council, observers said today, as a result of the European diplomatic front now aligned against the Rome government.

The report was current following the week-end meeting of the council, presided over by Premier Benito Mussolini.

It was recalled that on the day hostilities began in East Africa Il Duce mobolized 1C ,000,000 Italians as a gesture to show Italy's unity to the world.

The meeting was adjourned by Il Duce, who presided, until urgent diplomatic and tactical problems could be decided.

Geneva, Feb. 3 (Associated Press).—A committee of twelve experts—and one of those only an observer—met today to determine for the League of Nations whether an oil embargo against Italy would be an effective punishment for her war on Ethiopia.

The nations represented included Great Britain, France, Russia, Mexico, Roumania, the Netherlands, Sweden, Norway, Iraq, Iran (Persia), Peru and Venezuela.

Dr. Cesar Zumeta, the representative of Venezuela, one of the greatest oil producing countries in the world, announced at once that he was merely observing the proceedings.

MEXICAN PRESIDES

The committee elected as its president, Dr. R. Marte Gomez of Mexico, then decided to set up two sub-committees, one to consider the production of oil and the other its transportation by tankers.

Among nations not represented was Poland, which was said to have been invited but to have declined on the grounds the only oil she exports is to Czechoslovakia.

The committee included experts from a dozen countries which produce or transport the oil vital to Italy's mechanical armies, bent on conquest in Ethiopia.

ETHIOPIANS REINFORCING

Send 60,000 More Troops to South and Recruit More to Stop Italians

Associated Press

Addis Ababa, Feb. 3. — War tension mounted in Ethiopia's capital today as the government took steps to retrieve its position on the southern front and the streets became recruiting centres.

Two prominent chieftains, Dedjazmatch Bayenna and Dedjazmatch Ababa, hastened to the south with 60,000 troops to bolster the forces of Ras Desta Demtu, falling back before the Italian army.

Government authorities, however, said they felt no alarm over the situation, interpreting the Fascist advance as a scouting foray in territory the Italians would not attempt to hold. They took comfort from reports of a great victory last week in the Tembien sector of the north.

Canadian Press From Havas

KINGS IN GEORGE V FUNERAL PROCESSION

Escorted to the grave by six Kings, the President of France and the heirs to several thrones, the body of King George V was laid to rest at Windsor Castle beside the tombs of his ancestors. In this NEA picture, radiophotoed across the Atlantic and sent to The Times, some of the ranking mourners are shown walking in the procession en route from the Windsor railroad station to St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle. In the first row, left to right, are the Earl of Harewood, son-in-law of the late King; King Haakon of Norway, Crown Prince Olaf of Norway; the Earl of Athlone; second row, left to right, King Carol of Roumania; King Christian of Denmark; President Lebrun of France; third row, left to right, King Leopold of Belgium; King Boris of Bulgaria; fourth row, extreme left, is Crown Prince Umberto of Italy and, at extreme right, Crown Prince Adolph of Sweden.

Work and Wages Policy Urged By Committee After Relief Investigation

Government of Canada Considers Report on Special Inquiry Which Recommends Relief Camps Be Closed As Soon As Possible; Many Young Men Are Easily Influenced By Communistic Teachings, Says Report

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—With a comprehensive interim report covering the relief camp situation before him, Hon. Norman McL. Rogers, Minister of Labor, today was considering a definite recommendation that these camps should be closed as soon as possible.

A committee, which the minister said had been selected because its members possessed special knowledge of the relief camp problem, recommended closing the camps. Coupled with this, however, was the finding that camps must be continued for some little time because under present conditions men from them cannot be employed in any number.

VISITED CAMPS AND U.S.

The report of the committee, headed by R. A. Rigg, director of the Labor Department's employment services, and including Humphrey Mitchell, former Labor M.P. for Hamilton, and Dr. E. A. Bradwin of Toronto, president of Frontier College, was given out by the minister late Saturday. It was compiled following an inspection trip through approximately fifty camps located from Valcartier, Que., west to the Pacific Coast. The committee also paid a visit to Washington and consulted with authorities there on methods followed in operating United States camps.

AGITATION CENTRES

One of the arresting findings of the committee dealt with anarchistic and Communistic influences in Canadian camps, particularly the larger ones. The report said young men at

NO OPINION ON DESENSITIZER

Local Dentists Awaiting Arrival of Hartman's Approved Solution

Opinion on the success of Dr. Leroy L. Hartman's desensitizer is being withheld by Victoria dentists pending receipt of the solution from the east, which may differ in preparation from locally-prepared solutions.

The formula as prepared by Dr. Hartman has been turned over to Columbia University to arrange for its production, and although it has never been definitely announced, it is understood the university has arranged its manufacture by an eastern drug firm.

The preparation made here has been compiled from the formula published in the newspapers which has not given details of just how the elements used are united.

MAY ARRIVE THIS WEEK

Local dentists say a supply of the Hartman solution should arrive this week.

Some local dentists have experimented with the locally made preparation and have reported success with it. Others have not had as satisfactory results as anticipated, although there has been relief from pain while drilling. Still other dentists have preferred to wait until the product is released by an authorized manufacturer.

In the weekly news magazine, Time, this week, Dr. Hartman's discovery is dealt with and reference is made to the fact that in all cases where the desensitizer has been used, it has not proved wholly successful.

The magazine attributes this to one of two reasons—that the compounds used were prepared by volume instead of weight, or the application by the

New U.S. Consul For Victoria

Hon. Wilbur Keblinger Will Take Over Duties Next Month

Information has been received in Victoria that Hon. Wilbur Keblinger has been assigned U.S. Consul-General at Victoria to fill the vacancy created by the death of Hon. Theodore Jaecker.

Mr. Keblinger is expected to arrive about March 1.

Mr. Jaecker succeeded Hon. George A. Bucklin, who is now U.S. Consul-General in New Zealand. He held the position for slightly over a year when he passed away in Lo Jolla, Calif., of bronchial trouble. He had gone there for his health.

Mr. Keblinger for the last three years has been the U.S. Consul-General at Singapore. At present he is on leave in the United States. He has previously held posts at Fiume, Bombay, Melbourne and Sidney.

He is married and a native of West Viriginia.

DR. D. DONALD PASSES AWAY

Late School Medical Officer Had Distinguished Army Career; Funeral Tomorrow

Dr. David Donald, for thirteen years medical health officer for the city schools until his retirement recently, passed away yesterday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, in his seventieth year. He had been in ill-health for the last five months.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, after which the remains will be forwarded to Vancouver for cremation. Rev. F. Comley will officiate.

In deference to the expressed wish of the late Dr. Donald and Mrs. Donald, it is requested that no flowers be sent. Anyone who had intended to do so is asked, instead, to send a donation to the secretary of the School Board, City Hall, towards a fund which will be earmarked for a cot at the Solarium. Dr. Donald had been deeply interested in the welfare of children all his life.

Dr. Donald was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, and was with the Imperial Army for some years before coming to Victoria. He served with the Brit-

Raids On Siberia From Manchukuo Reported By Russia

Series of Provocative Acts By Japanese-Manchukuan Troops Told of in Communique From Soviet Army Commander

Associated Press

Moscow, Feb. 3.—The high command of the Soviet Far Eastern army accused Japanese and Manchukuan troops, in a communique today, of taking up a position facing the Soviet border and sending scouts into Soviet territory.

The scouts were compelled to retire to the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchukuo under the fire of Soviet frontier guards, leaving one of their number dead, the communique said.

The announcement invited "any impartial committee" to investigate the incidents which have been occurring on the border, promising the full co-operation of the Communist military organization.

EARLY TEXTILE INVESTIGATION

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—J. C. McRuer, Toronto, and Elie Beauregard, Montreal, have been appointed counsel to assist Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon in his investigation of the textile industry.

The Saskatchewan appeal court judge was appointed a royal commissioner to inquire primarily into circumstances leading to the closing down of the Dominion Textile Company's rayon silk plant at Sherbrooke, Que.

MARKET ACT BEFORE COURT

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 3. — The Supreme Court of Canada today reserved judgment on the reference concerning validity of the federal unemployment insurance law. It then took up the Natural Products Marketing Act.

New Brunswick and Quebec lined up against the insurance act. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta made no submissions, which was considered tantamount to an admission the statute was valid. Each of the western provinces reserved the right to appeal the court's judgment, however.

EPIDEMIC IN SNOWED-IN AREA

Cheticamp, N.S., Feb. 3.—Seriously handicapped by great snowdrifts, Dr. W. G. J. Poirier, Cheticamp physician, is battling an epidemic of influenza, said to be the worst since 1918.

The influenza epidemic was complicated by hundreds of cases of whooping cough.

AUDIT CLERK IS SUSPENDED

Mayor of Vancouver Relieves W. A. Tucker of Duties; Inquiry in Progress

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 3. — W. A. Tucker, internal audit clerk, was suspended by Mayor G. G. McGeer when the inquiry into the audit department's affairs was resumed today.

Tucker's suspension followed his admission during the inquiry that he had retained Vancouver public library books for four years. The inquiry resulted from affadavits made by Tucker concerning the conduct of City Clerk W. L. Woodford, Comptroller Walter Wardhauch and Internal Auditor Frank Stead, who have been suspended pending completion of the civic committee's investigation.

The mayor, in announcing Tucker's suspension, said he had checked the standards of ethical requirements which are to be expected in auditing, and was agreed that any tampering with petty cash or stamps or borrowing from individuals were practices that could not be tolerated without running the risk of a major disaster.

"The evidence we have had from Mr. Tucker about the attempted borrowing from H. J. Humphries, a borrowing from Woodford ($80), which was explained as an advance against overtime payments expected by Tucker, and a letter to Woodford asking for his assistance are circumstances which we must consider," the mayor declared.

He explained the city council could reinstate Tucked if it so desired.

Strike at Smithfield Market May Leave Much of South England Without Deliveries; Strikers Are Good-humored, But Meetings Show No Results

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 3.—Smithfield market meat salesmen, that large army of burly and hearty men who for some mysterious reason wear straw summer hats all the year round, remained idle all day.

Practically none of the 3,000 tons of meat that is daily supplied to London from this great market moved today.

If the strike continues London, and possibly a good part of southern England, will face meatless menus. The strike might even spread to dock and railway workers.

Ostensibly the strike is due to the grievances of 3,500 shopmen who, soon after last midnight, picketed the vast market and persuaded 1,200 pitchersmen who unload the vans to cease work.

The cold storage hands followed suit and by 3 a.m. Smithfield and it purlieus, which normally are in a state of frantic heaving and weighing of huge sides of meat, presented

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Gasoline prices went up one cent a gallon in Ontario today, to 12½ cents, which, with six cents Ontario road tax added, makes the price to motorists 23½ cents a gallon. There will be no change in the price of motor oils, oil companies said.

Sports Enjoyed But Marmot Sees Shadow

Victorians Indulge in Swimming, Skating, Grass Hockey, Riding, Tennis and Golf, But Small Animal Gets Ready For More Winter

Victoria was a city of diversified sports activity yesterday when half a dozen summer and winter games were in full swing. Yesterday was also ground-hog day. There are no ground-hogs on Vancouver Island but if his brother the marmot, who substitutes for him came out he certainly saw his shadow and crept back into his winter quarters. That means according to popular legend there will be six weeks more of hard weather.

Today there was light snow in Victoria, while up-island several inches were reported.

Hundreds of Victorians turned out yesterday with their skates and enjoyed several hours on the shallow ponds in outlying districts and on the lakes in the Malahat hills. Some of the best skating was enjoyed on Spectacle Lake, about a mile in the woods off the Malahat Highway, a few miles before the Summit.

The ice there was fine and in brilliant sunshine yesterday morning and afternoon there were over 200 skaters.

Members Arrive In Ottawa For Session

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—With the opening of Parliament only four days off, the capital today was beginning to manifest the nearness of the session. Senators and members of the House of Commons were arriving in large numbers and the corridors of the Parliament Buildings were taking on a busy aspect of occupancy.

The Speech from the Throne which Baron Tweedsmuir will deliver on Thursday was believed to have been completed. In it the government will forecast legislation to be introduced this session, while references will be made to the death of King George and the accession of King Edward VIII.

With 178 supporters Prime Minister King faces Parliament with the biggest following ever accorded a Dominion government. His normal majority should be in the neighborhood of 112, not counting the Speaker.

E. J. Young, Author of Price Spreads Minority Report, Scores State Control

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 3.—If a man wants to be in business, he must justify his right by rendering a service the people want, E. J. Young, former Liberal member of Parliament for Weyburn, Sask., and author of the minority report of the Price Spreads Commission, told the Toronto Canadian Club today.

"If every business, once established, were sheltered and protected by the state it would mean an absolute end to progress," he declared. "The electric railway would be forbidden to compete with the horse car, the bus with the stage coach."

As an instance, Mr. Young turned to the Canadian Railway systems which, he said, had showed little signs of progress, despite government aid, until the bus and motor truck appeared on the scene.

"Left to itself," he declared, "every new invention, every improved process, every new competitor will either destroy the old or inject new life into it.

"If we want the state to do more for us, we must be prepared to give it the necessary power."

SIMPLEST PROCESS

Rather than any system whereby the state would eliminate obsolete and incompetent business, Mr. Young said the matter should be left to the consuming public, which would "eliminate such business by the simple process of leaving it alone."

By that means, too, Mr. Young said, the best management in business was obtained. "He who neglects or mismanages is soon eliminated by the relentless force of economic law. It is perhaps a cruel process, but the only alternative is state regulation that will either hold the competent and enterprising down to the level of the incompetent and the obsolete, or permit them to get away with enormous profits.

PROFITS PASSED ON

"From the consumers' standpoint, competition in business definitely means better things. Competition is forever forcing the business man to pass on profits to the consuming public. By eliminating competition you remove the incentive to improvement and enable those to make progress who keep all the benefit to themselves."

The dispute arose from workers' dissatisfaction over what they considered undue delay by a conciliation board dealing with their claims for higher wages.

The police confronted a first-class traffic problem, with scores of heavy trucks jamming the narrow streets long after the hours at which they were usually unloaded.

The Ministry of Labor assigned a conciliation officer to attempt to work out a settlement of the strike, which was still deadlocked as the daylight hours ended.

An official of the Transport and General Workers' Union also assisted in the negotiations.

The strikers demanded specifically a minimum weekly wage of £4 (about $20), a week's vacation with pay and a forty-hour, five-day week.

ish forces in the Somaliland and Uganda campaigns, and was for a number of years deputy Medical Officer of Health and School Medical Officer at Aldershot, England.

In 1910 he came to Victoria and took up private practice. From 1913 to 1914 he was a member of the Board of School Trustees, but on the outbreak of war in August, 1914, left with the 50th Gordon Highlanders as medical officer, being the first medical man to leave Victoria for overseas service.

At Valcartier he was transferred to the Field Artillery, remaining with the force for seventeen months.

In December, 1915, he was recalled from France to headquarters, London, and received the appointment of president of the Officers' Medical Board, a position which he retained for fifteen months. In March, 1915, he was given command of the first Canadian hospital ship, Letitia, which ran on the rocks off Halifax and was wrecked.

MENTIONED IN DISPATCHES

Colonel Donald was transferred to command the hospital ship Araguaya, and voyaged back and forth between Liverpool and Halifax on this vessel for ten months before being sent back to France to command No. 2 Canadian Stationary Hospital at Boulogne. He had completed ten months' service at this place when he was wounded and sent back to England for treatment. He was mentioned in dispatches in 1918 and twice before had his name brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for war services.

On returning to Victoria after the Armistice, Lt.-Col. Donald was made Assistant Director of Medical Services for District No. 11, with headquarters here.

In 1922 he was appointed medical health officer to the city schools, a position which he filled until six months ago, when he was granted leave of absence owing to ill-health, followed by his retirement at the end of the year.

Dr. Donald was a life member of the St. John Ambulance Association of Canada and an Esquire of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. F. R. Gow, in Victoria.

Lost Climber Had Reached Summit

Delmar Fadden Slipped While Descending Mt. Rainier and Froze to Death, Says Leader of Rescue Party

White River Entrance, Mt. Rainier National Park, Feb. 3.—Delmar Fadden's ambition to be the first man ever to reach Mt. Rainier's 14,407-foot summit in the dead of winter apparently was realized—but it cost him his life.

Ome Daiber, leader of a dozen hardy men who dared subzero weather, darkness and ice to recover the body from the 13,000-foot level, said he believed Fadden reached the top, then fell from a steep snow cone as he was descending. Rendered unconscious, he froze to death.

The feat of recovering the Seattle adventurer's body, chopping it from the ice, lowering it more than 3,000 feet by ropes and toboggan, then carrying it down the mountainside required nearly two days.

Daiber said there were times when he "wondered if we would get back safely."

Frost-nipped and fatigued from the grueling climb and hazardous descent with the remains of the twenty-three-year-old Seattle "thrill climber," Daiber recounted the hardships endured by him and four companions in making the trip in the face of howling winds and withering cold.

MOST GRUELING CLIMB

The climb was the most grueling I have ever made in all my experience," Daiber said, including expeditions to Alaska and the hitherto unaccomplished feat of scaling the middle ridge of Willis Wall on the north side of Mount Rainier last September.

The party traveled on skis with only head lamps on their hats for light to Camp Starbo in Glacier Basin Thursday night.

We reached the camp at 5,400 feet at 12.30 a.m. (Friday) and crawled into bags and slept for two hours and a half," said Daiber.

BURNED UP ENERGY

"Every hour during the climb we paused to eat chocolate and peanuts—the climb just burned up energy," Daiber said.

"When we reached Emmons Glacier we roped ourselves together, thirty feet apart. We were in two groups.

"We were progressing at the rate of about 1,000 feet an hour. At 1 p.m., the sun sank behind the mountain, leaving us in the shadows on the north side and it immediately became extremely cold.

"The wind was terrific at the 12,000-foot elevation and the mountain was completely coated with glare ice. It was between 30 and 40 degrees below zero, I believe.

BODY FROZEN SOLID

"We could see the body when we were still some distance from it. As we got closer, we found fifteen bamboo krail makers placed on the slope by Delmar. Just before we got to the body, we saw the airplane (piloted by Elliott Merrill, Seattle, who dropped a location signal).

"When we reached the body, we found it was frozen solid into the ice and had to be chopped out."

ETHIOPIANS REINFORCING

opian commander of the eastern centre army.

Guns and ammunition will be distributed among tribal warriors hitherto kept unarmed due to doubts over their loyalty to the Addis Ababa government in order to get them to fight against the Italians in Ogaden, it was learned.

The announcement was believed to be part of the rapid reorganization of the southern forces ordered by Emperor Haile Selassie.

A daring plan to encircle Gen. Rodolpho Graziani's motorized Italian army in the south has been reported under way at Addis Ababa.

Associated Press

Rome, Feb. 3.—In his daily communique, Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander of the Italian armies in Ethiopia, reported that tribesmen of the Galla Borana region in southern Ethiopia were siding with the Italians.

The communique said: "The systematizing of the territory occupied between the Ganale Doria and the Dawa Parma Rivers continues.

"Chiefs and warriors of Galla Borana are co-operating actively with our forces against the nucleus of the Ethiopians in the region."

By MARK BARRON,
Associated Press correspondent

With the Southern Italian Army at Neghelli, Jan. 30 (Via Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, Feb. 3).—The Italian high command claimed control today of a vast area of southern Ethiopia extending from Italian Somaliland half way to Addis Ababa.

The "hell on wheels" column, driving up the valley of the Ganale Doria from Dolo, has forced the Ethiopians back eighty miles farther from Neghelli toward the vital town of Aliata.

(This would place Gen. Rudolfo Graziani's mechanized column 275 miles northwest of Dolo, starting point of the offensive, and about 225 miles directly south of Addis Ababa, with some fifty miles to go to Aliata).

At the same time, the column advancing along the parallel valley of the Dawa Parma has pushed north about 200 miles, capturing approximately 10,000 square miles of new territory.

CONTROL WATER SUPPLIES

This advance, farther to the southwest along the British Kenya colony border, Italian officers said, has given the mobile units of the Second Italian Division control of all water supplies in southern Ethiopia half way from Dolo to Addis Ababa.

The Ganale Doria offensive, launched December 12 from Dolo, on the Ethiopia-Italian Somaliland frontier, continues with the motorized cavalrymen relentlessly pursuing Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, toward his capital.

Sports Enjoyed But Marmot Sees Shadow

Several hockey games were in progress and when darkness fell bonfires were lit along the shores. The skaters gathered there for supper and continued their sport under a brilliant moon and bright stars. Hemmed in by tall trees the glistening lake was a picture of Alpine loveliness.

TENNIS AND SWIMMING

On an Admirals' Road field a grass hockey game was played. On Lyall Street several tennis sets were enjoyed on hard courts during the early afternoon. Victoria's pair of hardy swimmers—a man and a woman—took their daily plunge in the waters of Horseshoe Bay off the Dallas Road, while in sheltered parts of the beaches several were able to enjoy sunbaths. Protected from the north wind the sunshine was quite warm.

RIDING AND GOLF

In the Esquimalt and Colwood districts several people were seen horseback riding. Golf was also played as usual over all the city's courses. The weather, it seemed, was perfect for practically any sport.

An official of the Provincial Museum this morning said Vancouver Island has no real ground-hog. The nearest to it is the marmot, which is closely related to the woodchuck or the North American ground-hog. The marmot, however, lives only in the higher altitudes. Several people who motored over the Malahat yesterday said they saw tiny animals hurrying as for shelter. No doubt they were Marmots, who, having seen their shadows in the sunshine, were racing back to shelter for another six weeks, prepared for more cold weather. Had there been on sun yesterday, the legend says, the animals would have remained out, confident that winter was over.

Yesterday there were eight hours and forty-two minutes of sunshine, F. Napier Denison, superintendent at th Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill said. Saturday there were eight hours and twenty-four minutes.

The forecast for to-day was "snow and sleet." The wind was blowing this morning from the southeast.

Vancouver, Feb. 3.—King Winter left his first definite signs on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland of British Columbia today. Snow began to fall in Vancouver at 6 o'clock this morning and within a few hours the city was covered with a white mantle.

The temperature fell to 21 degrees Sunday, the lowest this year and only one degree above the record low of the winter, set Nov. 2.

Raids on Siberia From Manchukuo Reported By Russia

It disclosed three Soviet soldiers were killed and seven wounded in a clash with Japanese-Manchukuan troops January 30, in which hand-to-hand fighting occurred.

Japanese-Manchukuan scouts crossed into Soviet territory and were driven back February 1, the communique said, the same date when two companies of Japanese-Manchukuan troops took up a position on the border.

Both incidents occurred in the Grodekovo region, where, Soviet accounts said, a company of Manchukuan soldiers surrendered to the Soviets and was interned January 29 after rebelling and slaying four Japanese officers.

"It is obvious the main purpose of the present Japanese-Manchukuan provocatory raids is to force a return of the Manchukuan rebels," the communique said.

"The campaign of lies and provocations by the Japanese army has been going on since 1931."

The communique accused Japanese of carrying away one Soviet soldier whose body the Japanese now were represented as saying was found among the dead after a battle between Japanese-Manchukuan troops and Manchukuan rebels on Manchukuan territory.

The Manchukuan rebels are interned in the city of Voroshiloff, and therefore could not have returned to Manchukuo to engage in the battle, the communique said, terming the Japanese account a subterfuge to disprove Soviet accusations of Japanese raids on Soviet territory.

The Japanese army staff in Manchukuo was reported to have issued a communique previous to the Soviet communique, charging that the rebellion of Manchukuans was inspired by the Soviets and alleging that a so-called raid against the Soviets January 30 was really a battle fought on Manchukuan territory against the rebels.

Both the charge and the allegation were denied by the Soviet army communique.

ATTITUDE OF U.S.

League authorities said the investigation into practical possibilities of enforcing an oil embargo against Italy, in addition to the present war penalties, was likely to centre to a large degree on the attitude of the United States.

These sources conceded uncertainty as to whether such an extension of sanctions would be effective if the United States administration applied no oil embargo at all, or limited oil exports to Italy to a definite, known amount.

The committee, set up by the council, executive body of the League, at the January session, was expected in some quarters to complete its investigations and reach a decision within a week as to whether an oil embargo would prove practical.

It would report then to the League Committee of Eighteen, which would have its recommendation in two or three weeks as to whether the action should be undertaken.

PRESENT SANCTIONS

The sanctions sub-committee on statistical information concerning trade with Italy reported progress in its work, with the experts as a whole finding existing sanctions were working "more satisfactorily" than had been anticipated generally.

The sanctions experts recommended, nevertheless, that the "buy nothing from Italy" boycott be stiffened.

Under present provisions, goods manufactured in Italy and exported to a non-sanctionist nation may be re-exported to countries applying sanctions, providing their cost has been increased in the non-sanctionist state by at least 25 per cent.

ARMS CUT OFF

Of the penalties already applied against Italy, adjudged aggressor in the East African conflict, a League report showed:

The embargo on arms shipments to Italy has been accepted by fifty-two nations and put into effect by fifty.

Financial sanctions, cutting off credit to Italy, have been accepted by fifty-two nations and put into effect by forty-eight.

Economic sanctions, boycotting Italian goods, have been accepted by fifty nations and put into effect by forty-four.

dentist was incorrect. The solution is given as two parts of sulphuric ether, one part of grain alcohol and one and a quarter parts of thymol.

Associated Press

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 3.—The University of Michigan School of Dentistry reported today its clinical tests indicated a recently announced desensitizer would not prove to be a "panacea for relief from all pain from instrumentation in the dental chair."

LITTLE SUCCESS

Dr. Paul Jeserich, professor of dentistry and director of operative clinics, issued the report. It said that in only five of 100 cases in which the desensitizer developed by Dr. Leroy L. Hartman of Columbia University and formerly of Victoria, B.C., was used was there "any considerable reduction in the amount of pain from operative procedure."

"In no case," the report continued, "was the desensitization as profound as that obtained by injections of novocain."

In 40 per cent of the cases, the report said, the pain was "minimized to about the same extent that applications of phenol and warm air have accomplished for many years." In the others, the desensitizer "gave no apparent decrease in the sensation of pain."

"It is not our purpose to condemn the work of Dr. Hartman and results he claims for his formula when used by him," Dr. Jeserich's report explains. "But since Dr. Hartman made no mention in his presentation of his having had this material tried under his supervision by any co-operative group within the profession we feel this should be done as soon as possible.

SHOULD DEMONSTRATE

"First, Dr. Hartman should choose a group or groups of representative men from the profession and let them witness his technique and results as he operates upon previously determined sensitive teeth. Then Dr. Hartman should supervise the technique and results obtained by permitting this same group or groups to actually operate, using his desensitizer in his presence."

HARTMAN'S CONFIDENCE

New York, Feb. 3 (Associated Press).—Dr. Leroy L. Hartman expressed confidence tonight that detailed instructions for its use and further clinical demonstration would dissolve scattered professional protests that his recently discovered dental desensitizer was of doubtful value.

He discussed his discovery recently at a dentists' meeting in Chicago and will address the Detroit Dental Society February 13.

Declining to take up in detail a report in which the University of Michigan school of dentistry announced unsatisfactory trials of the new formula, he commented that the material had already been used extensively by other dentists in the Columbia University clinic. He has records of 500 cases.

Fort Erie, Ont., Feb. 3 (Canadian Press).—A chemical company here reported to-day doing a rush business in orders for the new substance discovered by Dr. Leroy L. Hartman, formerly of Victoria, B.C., to ease pain of patients in the dentist's chair. One local dentist reported an oddity with the new pain-deadener.

He said he drilled a cavity in a patient's tooth and there was no pain at all. He started treatment of another tooth but the patient said the new substance provided no protection against pain on that particular tooth.

Edmonton, Feb. 3.—Fourth aviation company to operate into the north out of Edmonton, Columbia Aviation Limited, Vancouver flying concern, has established a base here with two commercial aircraft.

Four Legislatures Are Soon To Meet

The situation is reversed in the Senate, for there the government has a minority party. Of the ninety-six senators, sixty-three are Conservative appointees.

LENGTH OF SESSION

Prorogation is expected before the middle of July to enable members of the government to proceed overseas for the unveiling of Canada's National Memorial on Vimy Ridge. That event is set to take place July 26.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Reduction of the minimum age for old age pensioners from seventy years to sixty years will be urged in a resolution before the House of Commons proposed by the Co-operative Commonwealth group, J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, stated today. It will also urge the monthly payment of $20 be increased.

Another resolution will call on the League of Nations to take steps to remove the causes of war arising out of the practice of nations seizing colonies in order to secure raw materials. The C.C.F. will contend countries not sufficiently civilized to govern themselves should be under mandates of the League of Nations, not the colony of any particular nation.

Mr. Woodsworth will also move a resolution urging socialization of Canadian utilities along the lines of the one proposed last session.

The C.C.F. comes back to the House with only seven members, the bulk of its members having met defeat before the forces of Social Credit in Alberta.

NOTE OF MOURNING

The first session of Canada's eighteenth Parliament since Confederation will start in an atmosphere of mourning with a ceremony shorn of its customary glamor and accompanying social events.

All the ceremonial procedure laid down by tradition will be observed as usual, but the brilliance of official uniforms and military trappings will be subdued by the signs of mourning for the late King George V, and the colorful display of feminine attire will be entirely lacking.

J. B. TUDHOPE DIES IN ONTARIO

Orillia, Ont., Feb. 3.—J. B. Tudhope, widely-known industrialist, died to-day. He was in his seventy-eighth year.

Mr. Tudhope was born March 21, 1858, in Oro township, Simcoe County. He was president of the Carriage Factories Ltd. of Orillia, and was director in a number of Canadian companies. He served three years as mayor of Orillia and had also been councillor and reeve. He was a pioneer supporter of Hydro in Ontario and was a member of the Orillia Water and Light Commission from 1913 until 1931. He was a member of the Union Government party at Ottawa from 1917 to 1921.

Alberta and Saskatchewan Sessions to Start Next Thursday, Manitoba Feb. 18 and British Columbia Feb. 25

Canadian Press

Saskatchewan's fifty-five-member Legislature and Alberta's sixty-three-member House will open Thursday of this week. Manitoba's Legislature, with fifty-five members, will begin its work February 18, and the British Columbia Legislature's forty-eight members will start work February 25.

All four legislatures will be called on to deal with legislations developing from the sessions of the continuing committee on constitutional amendments now in session at Ottawa. Among those will be participation of the provinces in a Dominion loan council for refunding debts.

SOCIAL CREDIT

The Alberta Social Credit administration of Premier William Aberhart, entering its first legislative session, holds the spotlight. State medicine may take a leading place in the Saskatchewan deliberations, and health insurance promises first rating for British Columbia. Manitoba Legislators expect a light session.

A bill to give the cabinet in Alberta power to take steps toward Social Credit promises to be the chief legislation for the foothills province. The bill would enable the cabinet to make expenditures, and D. M. Duggan, M.P.P., Conservative leader, has criticized it as a plan "to usurp the functions of the Legislature."

Closing Down Of Camps Recommended

ages ranging from eighteen to twenty-five years who had never had other than occasional or casual employment became "an easy prey to the subversive influences of Communistic or anarchistic philosophy sedulously propagated by experienced agitators."

WAGES ADVOCATED

Adoption of a work and wages policy, instead of giving men in relief camps food, clothing, shelter and twenty cents a day, was recommended by the committee. While making no specific recommendation as to the amount to be paid in Canadian camps, the committee mentioned that in transient camps across the line, unskilled labor is paid $15 a month, semi-skilled $20, and skilled $25, together with food and clothing.

"EMERGENCY WORK"

The name "emergency work camp" should be substituted for that of "relief camp," in the opinion of the committee. The term relief camp had a bad "psychological effect," and the committee thought a change in name might help to destroy this.

Camps should be limited to accommodate not more than 140 men. The committee cited the trouble experienced at the large camp at Dundurn, Sask., as furnishing reasons for doing away with such organizations.

WHOLESOME MEALS

Generally speaking the committee found meals, recreation facilities and medical services satisfactory. Meals were described as clean and wholesome, and no discrimination was shown between those on relief and administration staffs. Kitchens and dining halls were found to be "spotlessly clean."

Facilities for washing clothes were ample. There was adequate water supply for bathing.

The committee stated it was "unfair to brand the camps as military establishments." It commended the organization set up by the Department of National Defence as being fair to the men and efficient in management.

SYMPATHETIC ATTITUDE

When issuing the report the minister made the following brief statement:

"The members of the committee were selected for the task because of their special knowledge in regard to the several aspects of the relief camp problem. They approached their investigation with a sympathetic understanding of the human factors in the problem and with a knowledge as well of the practical considerations which must also have their bearing on government policy.

"This report is being released because of the widespread interest in relief camps throughout the country. We propose to take the people into our confidence in regard to the whole matter. Wherever it is possible to do so, I think, it is desirable to throw a clear light on a problem in order that the taxpayers and citizens generally may know the reason for the adoption of particular policies."

COMMUNISTIC INFLUENCES

Dealing with communistic and anarchistic influences found in some of the camps, which play on "a group of young men whose ages range from eighteen to twenty-five years," the report commented:

"Most of these young men are gifted with average intelligence and if they had grown up surrounded by the influences of a normal environment which included useful work they would no doubt have given a good account of themselves. Under the influences among which they have lived during the past few years, however, they constitute a real menace to our existing institutions.

SHIRK WORK

"They are viciously rebellious against and defiant to authority; they shirk work and are determined to continue to do so; they assert that society owes them a living and are oblivious of the obligations they owe to society; they are acquiring undesirable habits, especially by moving from camp to camp, often under assumed names, staying in each camp long enough to secure a complete issue of clothing and then leaving camp, selling the issued clothing and shoes, and donning ordinary cheap, mufti clothing; they disturb and irritate more reasonable and stable minded men, and are a constant source of trouble to camp authorities."

EXPLORATION OF RESOURCES

The committee found many of the men in the camps unsuited by background and training for camp life. They were merely awaiting the first opportunity to return to vocations more suited to their temperament and upbringing. It urged the importance of exploring the resources of Canada, both public and private, for developing fields of industrial employment.

"The idea should not be entertained that relief camps are a permanent governmental activity, but rather they should be regarded as a temporary expedient for meeting an emergency situation," said the report. At present, due to the prolongation of their existence, they constitute a serious danger, since the tendency must inevitably be that they will be accepted as a fixed, national institution akin to the poor law work houses of Europe, if their existence is long perpetuated."

WORK AND WAGES

Dealing with work and wages, the committee reported as follows:

"Irrespective of the source of inquiry, the decided opinion was expressed that a work-and-wages policy would be infinitely more satisfactory than the present method of supplying food, shelter, medical care and clothing, combined with an allowance of twenty-cents per day. Under such a system the men to all intents and purposes are wards of the state, creating a condition that is in direct contradiction to established Canadian practices and in opposition to the mental make-up of the Canadian people. It is inevitable such a policy in its practical application would bring into being difficulties of a grave and insurmountable character.

"We suggest consideration should be given, if a work and wages policy is inaugurated, to limiting the length of the work period in camps by others than keymen, to a period not exceeding six months in any twelve consecutive months, and the deferment of a specified sum of money from the monthly pay cheque, which would be paid to the men on discharge. Such a policy would tend in the first place to permit the men to seek employment outside of the camps, and the deferred pay would make it possible for them to be self-supporting, at least for some time, providing ordinary caution was used."

EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS

The committee reported employment conditions which presently prevail militate against any considerable number of relief camp workers being drafted into industrial or agricultural employment except during the periods of peak demand.

At some length the report deals with matters of recreation and education. It states that in all camps a library of 50 to 360 books was found. A recreation hall was provided and generally it faced on a playing-field where outside sports were enjoyed. In certain camps improvement might be made by appointment of men to supervise and encourage sports.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSES

In respect to education the committee reported the provincial governments had "made a forward move by instituting correspondence courses and in some cases appointing resident teachers." The committee found, however, a certain indifference to education among men in the camps.

WOODSWORTH'S VIEW

Men in unemployment relief camps should be given real wages for real work, J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, said here when asked his views on the report of the committee on camps. One of the most depressing factors of the camps was for men to do useless work month after month for 20 cents a day and with no outlook for anything better.

He had not yet studied the report, but he thought the suggestion for smaller camps was a good thing. Work should be provided that would be useful such as reforestation and grade-crossing elimination.

In the camps in the United States men received from $15 to $25 a month. The C.C.F. leader was not prepared to say whether these rates with food and lodging for the men to buy their own clothing would be satisfactory here.

Sir O. Seaman Dies in London

London, Feb. 3.—Sir Owen Seaman, who was editor of Punch for twenty-six years, died yesterday after a prolonged illness. He was seventy-four.

His name has been inseparably associated with that magazine for many years. As a writer of light verse, he showed remarkable versatility. In valedictory lines he wrote to eminent personages he invariably struck an appropriate note.

Sir Owen was editor of Punch from 1906 until 1932. Prior to that time he had been assistant editor for four years and was associated with the magazine since 1897.

Educated at Shrewsbury and Cambridge he became a schoolmaster and then a professor of literature at the Durham College of Science, Newcastle on Tyne, 1890.

His publications included: "Odepus the Wreck," "Horace at Cambridge," "Borrowed Plumes," "A Harvest of Chaff," "War Time," and "Interludes of an Editor."

He was created a baronet in 1933.

Attorney-General Gordon Sloan is expected back in Victoria from Ottawa toward the end of this week. Mr. Sloan has been in the Federal Capital for the last three weeks, attending the Supreme Court and the Ottawa conference committee meeting on the British North America Act.

Vancouver Police Search For Bandits Who Prey on Persons in Parked Cars

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 3.—Two holdup men, who for the last month have been preying on occupants of automobiles parked in Little Mountain Park in the Fairview district, were the object of a widespread police search today after officers had received a report of another holdup in the area over the week-end.

A man and a woman companion, whose names were withheld, had just parked their car when they were approached by two men, one masked and one armed with an automatic. The victims were forced to hand over their money and personal effects. The bandits took possession of $20 cash and a watch from the man and the woman's purse, which did not contain anything of value. At the approach of another car they fled into the bushes adjoining the roadway.

G. W. Johnson reported to police he was walking on Highway Street, in a residential district and, when crossing a lane entrance, was confronted by two men. One pressed something into his back while the other went through his clothing, taking $42.

Fine Tribute To Scots' Poet Paid

Poet's Work Gave Deeper Meaning to Things of Life, Says Speaker

"Some one has said that hard work, porridge, the Holy Bible and the Shorter Catechism have been the principal foundations of Scottish character. Wouldn't you agree with me that this person has left out a most important element, namely, the songs and poems of Robert Burns. Surely Burns has assisted profoundly in the moulding of Scottish character."

This was the tribute which Rev. David Angus Smith of Vancouver paid to the Scots' national poet when he proposed "The Immortal Memory" at the annual Burns Club dinner Saturday evening.

Burns's songs and his sayings, said the speaker, have been household words on the tongues of Scottish people everywhere since he died. Time has only enhanced the far-reaching influence of his work.

"He lives in the burns and braes. He lives in the hearts and homes of the people. It is a queer Scottish shelf that does not have its Bible and its volume of Burns.

"Love is tenderer because he has sung it. Beauty is fairer because his eyes have seen it. Humanity is wiser because he has revealed itself to itself."

Mr. Smith endeavored to present his tribute to the bard "through the eyes of Burns himself."

EYES GLOWED

His eyes, said the speaker, had been responsible for much of what he did. Sir Walter Scott, for instance, had been so greatly impressed with Burns he wrote, "His eyes alone, I think, indicated poetical character and temperament. They were large and of a dark cast which glowed—I say—literally glowed when he spoke with feeling or interest. I never saw another such eye in a human head, though I have seen the most distinguished men of my time."

The eyes of Robert Burns never grew tired of looking at two things—his beloved historic Scotland and the bonnie lasses.

Every detail of farm, field and fireside was indelibly printed on the man's soul through his eyes. And it was not only the outward charm of the rolling hills that he saw, but Scotland's true beauty, the throbbing life and spirit which he symbolized in the early morning smoke arising from a cotter's chimney.

NATIONAL PRIDE

"If this intense national pride of his, which sent him all over Scotland to scan with hungry eyes her historic high places and to kiss the slab where Robert Bruce is buried, if it did nothing else than make him pen 'Scots Wha Ha'e,' which Carlyle calls the world's greatest war song, then it was not poured there without avail," said Mr. Smith.

It was a bonnie lass, he continued, that first sent Burns into the realms of rhyming. As a lad of fifteen he used to loiter behind when his day's work was done to look on lovely Alison Begbie, his first love. One day she showed him a poem penned by her master's son. Burns vowed he would write as well as any laird's son. He did, and thus his first poem was in praise of beautiful womanhood.

"There never was a time from then on when he did not cast his eye on some handsome face. Often he decided to change this habit of his, to stop staring, but it was no use. When he had not the slightest thought of casting a magic spell over the heart of a maid his magnetic eyes would go to work and wreck his peace."

ALWAYS IN LOVE

"Sometimes we hear people speak about Burns making love. He never did. He was always too deeply in it. It was this fact that made every song he wrote so fresh and so vital. They are real, throbbing, living things."

There was something else, even more deep, that appealed to the eyes of Burns, said Mr. Smith. It was the power which belongs not so much to the eyes of the head as to the eyes of the heart, his deep-rooted and beatific sympathy.

"What a store of human sympathy continually surged in those eyes of his. What other human eye has portrayed so exquisitely that common element that binds man to man. Yes, not only keen sight, but insight as well was the poet's gift," he declared.

ALL-EMBRACING SYMPATHY

One day Burns said to Mrs. Dunlop: "I am no saint, God knows, but if I could I would wipe all tears from all eyes." His sympathies were all-embracing and his soul sincere.

"From what source, think you, did he draw that intense deep-seated sympathy? I have a suspicion that those 'strange burning eyes of Agnes Brown,' his mother, supplied some. For while it is said she could not so much as sign her own name yet she had a soul that taught him more than old Scots' songs and sagacious sayings."

Burns's father, too, had a keen penetrating insight into human needs, but, said the speaker, more than from either his mother or father, the poet's greatest supply came from the Bible, the book which was his constant companion in youth and source of much of his inspiration in manhood.

"Is it any wonder that his own son, when Burns had passed to the great beyond, taking the Bible to his mother one day, asked 'Why is it, mither, that we canna see in it the things that fither saw'."

"It was the eyes of Robert Burns that saw—eyes that never forgot to look up to the 'Divine Disposer of Events'," Mr. Smith concluded.

Annual Burns Club Dinner at Empress Hotel Attended By 300

The Victoria Burns Club had to send to Vancouver for its royal Scotch haggis, but that did not dim the enthusiasm with which 302 persons greeted "the chieftain o' the puddin' race" at the annual dinner in the Empress Hotel Saturday night.

Steaming hot on a silver platter, the haggis was carried in by Miss Gwen Dewar and piped around the Empress dining-room by Pipe-major Donald Cameron, W.O., while the company clapped hands in accompaniment to the skirls.

Honorary vice-president George C. Grant delivered the time-honored "Address to the Haggis," plunging the knife into the pudding with gusto to let the savory odor come forth.

VANCOUVER SPEAKER

The club also imported from Vancouver the chief speaker of the evening, Rev. David Angus Smith, B.A., who delivered a worthy address to "The Immortal Memory" of the Scots' national poet.

For the first time, the Burns Club toasted His Majesty King Edward VIII, the Burns dinner being the first public banquet of any size in Victoria since the accession of the new King.

The programme, under the capable chairmanship of President W. A. Jameson, opened with the musical numbers, bagpipe selections by Pipe-major Cameron ("Lord Lovat" and "The Inverness Gathering") and a quartette rendition of "The Wooin' o't," by Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Miss E. Robinson, M. W. Thomas and J. Loudon.

Vice-president W. B. Grant proposed the toast, "The Land of Our Adoption."

"Even in Canada you can't come and sow wild oats and hope to harvest a crop of wheat," he said, in expressing the hope that most Scotsmen who had been adopted by Canada had made the most of their opportunities.

He mentioned that in the home land people had little idea of the immensity of Canada, the distances between cities and provinces and the size of the terrain.

"In the Old Country a Canadian is always welcome, even more so in Scotland," he said, telling an anecdote of a Canadian soldier named Campbell who played on a Perth golf course on Sunday, was summonsed before the magistrate, who fined him half a crown and then paid the fine himself when he learned Campbell was in the Canadian Scottish regiment.

TIES OF KINSHIP

He spoke of the ties of kinship and ancestry between Canada and the Old Country, far stronger than any "scrap of paper." Great Britain was leading the way to-day in bringing order out of chaos and it was up to all loyal Canadians to help her. The government of Canada should be a straightforward business, with the provinces sinking their petty jealousies.

He referred also to the warm spot which the new King had in his heart for Canada, his love of its freedom and open spaces.

Harry Hay sang "Scots Wha Ha'e."

Replying to the toast, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, spoke first of his own Scottish ancestry, his mother having been born in the city of Ayr, and having made the trip out to British Columbia in the 1870's.

"I often wonder," he continued, "if, in these times, we shouldn't have more of the spirit of the old pioneers. There is nothing wrong with our great country and we only need the feeling of progress, the effort and the spirit to go ahead."

British Columbia, he said, in 1935 had its best year since 1929, and all indications pointed to 1936 being even better. The lumber and mining industries were leading the way.

TO SAVE CATHEDRAL GROVE

In a reference to the beauties of Victoria and Vancouver Island, Mr. Gray gave his solemn pledge to do everything in his power to preserve the famous Cathedral Grove timber stand for posterity.

The minister also announced that he would urge upon Ottawa this year the formation of a national park on the west coast of Vancouver Island. He intended, he said, to visit the federal capital within the next few months and would take it up then.

Referring to beautification of the city, he said Victorians could do much to improve its beauty by removing hedges from in front of many of the fine homes.

The minister pledged his loyalty to King Edward VIII as one of those who believes "the Union Jack should continue to be the flag of Canada."

"We must hope that His Majesty, carrying out the enormous task for which he is so capably trained, succeed in bringing about peace in the world," he declared.

GREETINGS FROM WORLD POINTS

Greetings from Burns Clubs of Natal, South Africa; Sydney, Australia; Buffalo, N.Y., and London were read by the secretary, E. M. Whyte, and also from J. G. Brown, former Victorian, and Hon. R. Randolph Bruce.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson sang "There's Nae Luck Aboot the Hoose."

The quartette sang "Rantin', Rovin' Robin."

After the toast "The Immortal Memory," an interval of ten minutes occurred, then Mr. Hay sang "Gae, Bring Tae Me a Pint o' Wine."

Mr. Jameson proposed "Our Mothers, Wives and Sweethearts," and Maurice W. Thomas sang "Bonnie Wee Thing." Mrs. W. G. Wilson replied to the toast.

After the duet, "O Wert Thou in the Cauld Blast" by Mrs. Jameson and Mr. Hay, Mayor David Leeming toasted the Burns Club of Victoria.

"After having seen Scotland," he said, "I can understand why Scotsmen carry in their hearts that great patriotic love of their native heath."

He went on to enumerate some of the things the Burns Club does in Victoria, first pointing out it had one of the largest memberships of any Burns Club in the world. The club, he pointed out, maintains a cot in the Jubilee Hospital, it helps many other institutions, including Sunshine Inn and the Salvation Army.

He paid tribute to the work of Robert Smith, a prominent member of the club, in connection with the Gyro Hamper Fund, and also to E. M. Whyte, secretary, who supervised the collection of food for the hampers.

The holding of the Scottish games last fall was a singular achievement, he said.

Mr. Whyte's participation in the work of the horticultural society in beautifying the city also drew comment from His Worship.

In some clever references to the poetry of Burns, the mayor said that if only many people in the world to-day could "see oursel's as ithers see us," as the poet put it, the way would be paved for solution of many of the existing evils. For instance, he said, "if only Mussolini could see himself as we see him."

Adam Bell, Deputy Minister of Labor, replied to the toast, thanking the mayor for his complimentary remarks and then returning them by stating that Victoria was fortunate in its choice of public men.

Men in high offices to-day faced very serious problems. Many solutions were offered from the rostrum, the soap box and in the press, and said the speaker, he sometimes wished public men could be delivered from too many of these remedies, since they merely confused the issue.

In again thanking the mayor, he hoped the Burns Club could continue the work to which he had referred.

Mr. Hay sang "A Man's a Man for a' That."

J. C. Sparks of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society replied.

W. Hastie Cochrane, the club bard, presented his annual opus, an ode entitled "The Metamorphosis of Vancouver Island," dedicated to "Baron" Bruce McKelvie.

The quartette sang "Afton Water."

"The Press" was proposed by E. M. Whyte, club secretary, and Harry Jealouse of The Daily Times replied.

No Early Austrian Throne Restoration

Britain, France and Russia Say Move to Make Otto King Is Inopportune

Associated Press

Paris, Feb. 3.—Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, Vice-chancellor of Austria, was reported to-day to have informed former Empress Zita that the return of Archduke Otto to the Austrian throne has been "indefinitely postponed."

The Vice-chancellor, who arrived yesterday evening from London, had agreed to tell the pretender's mother that diplomats felt they could not move for the restoration of the monarchy after France, Britain and Russia had joined in urging such a move was inopportune.

Central European diplomats said Austrian fears that Premier Mussolini of Italy was bargaining with Reichsfuehrer Hitler with Austria as a stake led Vienna to drop the plan for the Hapsburg restoration.

King Carol was reported to have cancelled a proposed visit to Bucharest by Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Nazi Minister, to "neutralize" Roumania for German trade.

King Boris of Bulgaria arrived to talk with Foreign Minister Flandin. Bulgaria, despite its strong Italian attachments, would be asked to cooperate with the Little Balkan Entente in return for trade concessions and the eventual right to limit rearmament, it was reported.

MAN DROWNED AT VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 3.—One drowning occurred yesterday as hundreds of Vancouver skaters risked thin ice formed during the last week of freezing weather. More than a score of persons were plunged into the waters of Lost Lagoon and other frozen ponds and two youthful athletes, a man and a girl, made a gallant rescue of two drowning boys.

John J. Beaver, thirty-seven, who came her eight years ago from Reddit, Ont., and who operated a pet shop on Commercial Drive, was drowned in Trout Lake when the sleigh drawn by three dogs in which he was driving two small boys across the lake broke through the ice. The dogs, in their frantic efforts to save themselves, climbed over Beaver, forcing him under the water.

GIRL RUSHES TO RESCUE

Lovett McKinnon, eighteen-year-old member of a fancy skating club, was sitting before a bonfire on the lake shore when she noticed the sled plunge into the water. Without a word to her father and mother, who were with her, she raced across the ice and dived to the rescue. She pulled Clarence Beaver, seven, on the treacherous ice, where he was awaited by bystanders, and plunged back for the other child.

By that time, twenty-three-year-old Frank Turner of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, holder of the Canadian 880 yards and 1,000 yards swimming records, had reached the scene, and pulling off his skates, had dived in and pulled five-year-old Gordon Wells to safety. The elder Beaver had disappeared.

Firemen had been called and as they attempted to reach the scene on a ladder stretched across the ice, they, too, were precipitated into the water and had considerable difficulty in saving themselves. Eventually they obtained a boat and recovered Beaver's body in fifty feet of water.

Two of the dogs were saved, but one drowned.

W. J. LITTLE OF MONTREAL DIES

Circulation Manager of Montreal Daily Star For Thirty Years

Canadian Press

Montreal, Feb. 3.—William J. Little, until his retirement in 1934, circulation manager of The Montreal Daily Star, died at his home here yesterday, aged seventy-one.

Mr. Little spent more than fifty years in the service of the newspaper. He had been unwell for the last month and an attack of pneumonia proved fatal.

Born in Guelph, Ont., on Jan. 13, 1865, he was a son of the late James Little, a miller. Educated in primary and secondary schools of Ontario, Mr. Little was a teacher for two years. He came to Montreal in 1885, joining The Star.

His responsibilities were gradually increased until soon after the beginning of the century he became circulation manager. He retired June 30, 1934, when colleagues made presentations to him.

NEW BRUNSWICK OBJECTS

NEW BRUNSWICK REFUSES TO AGREE to the proposal now being studied by representatives of the Dominion and provincial governments at Ottawa that power be obtained from the British Parliament to enable the Canadian Parliament to amend the British North America Act. Its Attorney-General contends that the movement under way to that end aims at the subordination of the provinces to the Dominion, and is nothing less than an attempt to supplant the present system of confederation with one of a legislative union which was emphatically rejected by the provincial governments in 1867. A legislative union, of course, would mean the abolition of provincial autonomy because it would concentrate all of the law-making and administrative power of Canada in the government and Parliament at Ottawa.

Such public statements as have been issued at Ottawa on this subject so far do not support the contention of the New Brunswick government that the purpose of securing the power to amend the B.N.A. Act by Ottawa without the requirement of approval by the British Parliament aims at the subordination of the provinces to the Dominion. They intimated that this power would be surrounded with safeguards which would protect provincial rights; that under it the B.N.A. Act should not be amended except with the consent of a majority of the provinces, and that complete provincial unanimity would be necessary to any amendment affecting minorities, religion, education, language, and other similar considerations already existent—this condition being particularly applicable to Quebec.

Obviously, there should be no revision of the act creating the Dominion which would abolish or restrict representative institutions within the provinces, or the right of the electors to determine how they should be governed in purely provincial affairs. On the very face of it, a national structure such as that which the Attorney-General of New Brunswick says is in view would not last. It would be an inverted pyramid, and would collapse under its own weight. In time it might amount to nothing but a bureaucracy, controlled by the central provinces, and in certain circumstances it is easy to envisage a little clique of powerful elements in one or two of the big eastern centres determining all Canadian fiscal policy, all taxation, all aspects of civil rights in their own particular interests. This would be a form of Fascism. Government in Canada would be like the old school game of snap-the-whip, in which the provinces at the end of the whip would do the snapping and the big fellows in the centre would do the swinging. It should not be necessary to point out that the provinces most remote from the swingers soon would be snapped off the whip.

It can not be emphasized too strongly that only on the basis of the present system can Canadian unity be preserved. It would be impossible to set up any single legislative and administrative authority which could find a common denominator for the divergent interests into which Canada is divided. It is difficult enough now for Ottawa to devise policies which meet the conflicting requirements of, say Quebec or Ontario on the one hand, and Alberta and British Columbia on the other; to reconcile the aspirations of Montreal with those of Vancouver. Maritime Claims, the chapter of grievances of the Atlantic provinces, and the Better Terms agitation of British Columbia, in themselves reflect this difficulty, indicating with special significance the reaction of the ends against the domination of the centre. How long could they tolerate a condition under which their present control even over provincial affairs was taken away from them? Certainly not very long.

It is hard to believe that any such futile scheme is in contemplation by anybody who has the slightest knowledge of Canada beyond the boundaries of Ontario and Quebec. Whether it is or not, however, would not necessarily be determined by the terms agreed to by the constitutional committee of the conference. The actual answer would be found rather in the financial relations between the Dominion and provinces under review by an altogether different committee. If from the discussions on this subject an agreement emerged which when carried into effect would enable the Dominion to control the financial policies of the provinces, nothing else would matter, for Ottawa then would have a club which could force any kind of an amendment to the constitution it wanted.

Plainly the federal government can not afford to open its treasury to the provinces without securing itself against loss; there also is such a thing as federal rights. But this should not mean the permanent domination of provincial finances by the central government—which, as we have pointed out, might very conceivably mean in some circumstances domination of the whole economic life of the provinces by a mere corporal's guard of financial dictators. Hence, any amendment to the B.N.A. Act not only should rigidly safeguard provincial rights in regard to minorities, religion, education, and language, but also provincial financial autonomy. Certainly no other terms would be acceptable to British Columbia, whose future otherwise might be hopelessly handicapped in the interests of the dominant sections of central Canada.

A GREAT JOURNALIST PASSES

WHEN FRANK H. SIMONDS WAS called by death in Washington the other day international journalism lost one of its most brilliant figures. He lived a full life in the profession of his choice and closed it at the comparatively early age of fifty-eight. It is said of him that he deliberately plotted his course, that he wanted a competence, and large intervals of leisure and peace in a country life. He had a farm in New Hampshire where he lived when in his native land in the summer, taking himself to Washington in the months of shorter days. Few of us are able to live as we might like to; apparently Mr. Simonds achieved his ambition.

He started his journalistic career at the beginning of the present century as a reporter on The New York Tribune, climbing up the ladder of success from year to year until the World War gave him his great opportunity. Early in the conflict he commanded the attention of the reading public, not only in English-speaking countries, but in other parts of the world, particularly in Continental Europe. He was a glutton for work and study; he was never guilty of reaching his opinions by superficial survey. From day to day, in his dispatches, he made the World War vivid and as clear as it could be made with confused situations on many fronts and from the information, or misinformation, which trickled through a small-mesh sieve of censorship.

Mr. Simonds first showed his real flair for foreign affairs as editorial writer for The New York Sun; but later his studies broadened into the whole field of world politics. One commentator, indeed, says he could "rattle off at the typewriter all the European treaties, from that of Verdun eleven hundred years ago to the latest product of the Chancelleries." Dozens of European statesmen counted him as friend or acquaintance, for his works received respectful attention abroad. This is borne out by the fact that he was honored by several European governments.

The New York Times says of him in part: "An acknowledged expert in his province, he provoked thought because he was a thinker, and disagreeing critics admired the fullness of his requirements even if they disputed this or that dictum. He goes in the plentitude of his powers and after a life of manly endeavor and deserved happiness." Since 1918, incidentally, Mr. Simonds had largely confined himself to the writing of books dealing with the war and international relations during the years which have followed. He was, too, the correspondent of more than fifty American and foreign newspapers.

GET ON THE AIR MAP

VICTORIA STILL IS NOT ON THE AIR map of this continent as it should be. True, there is an efficient seaplane service between this city and Vancouver; but there is no reason at all why there should not be accommodation for landing nearer town, why there should not be adequate facilities for land planes, as there is at points much less important than Victoria.

Small communities like Grand Forks, Kamloops, Kelowna, for example, have their airports and flyers know that if they choose to land at either of them they can do so without danger. Vancouver, of course, offers every facility for both land and seaplanes. Vancouver, however, sometimes—as occurred recently—is bothered with dense fog for several days, and fog is one of the worst enemies of the airman. The point, therefore, is that an air mail pilot flying over the Rockies from Calgary, say, drops down at Grand Forks and inquires about weather conditions at the Coast. He might be told that there was fog at Vancouver, but this might not imply that the condition was general on the Coast. If he could not see Vancouver for fog, he could continue to Victoria, provided there was a safe landing field here—which there is not.

It is time Victoria got its bearings in regard to the transcontinental air-mail service. After all, this city is Canada's western terminal. Mails for the Orient are vital to Canadian business. A ship missed may mean the loss of thousands of dollars to Canadian commercial houses.

United States Senator McCormack, Democrat, introduced a bill into the Senate yesterday for pensions for men and widows of men who were engaged in military service during the Indian wars. Under the bill any person who served ninety days in the regular army from January 1, 1865, to December 31, 1898, shall receive a pension of seventy-five dollars a month. This may be one of the freak proposals which President Roosevelt expected would crop up if the Bonus Bill became law?

Reichsfuehrer Hitler has been celebrating the third anniversary of his rise to power in Germany and naturally he has made the most of his record. Meanwhile, competent students of conditions tell us that food shortage in the Reich continues to grow to menacing proportions, that unemployment is rising fast, and that wages are falling from month to month. All of Germany's financial resources evidently are being used for war preparation. Hitler must go to war sooner or later for the same reason Mussolini went to war. The exigencies of dictatorships admit of no other alternative to eventual revolution.

What Other Papers Say

A CANADIAN AAA?
The Providence Journal

Canada's experimentation with agricultural control, although marked by far less diversity of ramifications, appears to have been rewarded with no more practical success than has attended the similar projects in this country. Of course, there is only one answer to continuing surplus production. The problem is hardly to be solved by buying up the surplus to stabilize prices and then permitting further accumulations of surplus year after year. That means the erection of an inverted pyramid that is bound to topple in time. We are not sure as to the question of constitutionality that may be involved in Canada, but if the Dominion Government wants to engage in further fantastic experimentation it might establish its own AAA and nip surplus production in the bud by paying the farmers for not raising wheat. Canadian processing taxes might prove a further educational step of some value for the taxpayers.

THE PERPETUAL BANKER
La Presse, Montreal

An impossible situation exists. While recognizing that the provinces of the Canadian west need assistance from the federal government, that some of them find it impossible to procure funds elsewhere than in Ottawa upon reasonable terms, it cannot be admitted that the central administration should lend itself indefinitely to playing the role of banker for the prairies and British Columbia, at least without demanding precise material guarantees for the millions, and perhaps soon for the hundreds of millions, which it is advancing them. It is nothing more than a question of good financial administration. The Ottawa government has responsibilities to the whole country, to the provinces of the east, as well as those of the west. And to consider the one as the other it is impossible to continue the provisional arrangement set up during the years of the crisis. The question is not settled, but it is being seriously considered.

Loose Ends

Winnipeg stands by its food—so do we — in a literal sense—and we crowd together to escape the intolerable silence.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

NEIGHBORS

THEY TELL ME, though I haven't seen the item, that the oracle of the prairies, The Manitoba Free Press, has deigned to look down with a kindly but prim look from its oracular heights to give us a thought here in Victoria. Nay, it has looked down as far as this column and found it distasteful and I don't altogether blame it.

When I was through Winnipeg about a month ago I had an unfortunate experience in the gastronomical sense, which, after all, is the most unfortunate sense of all. I wandered up Main Street, a starving man in a Manitoba blizzard, looking for food and could find nothing but soda fountains and tea rooms until I was saved by a Greek joint, none too clean.

I had the temerity to point this out here, in this place, not expecting anyone in Winnipeg to see it, but The Free Press seems to have seen it and been roused to a fine pitch of civic patriotism. It is getting so we Victorians can't have a word among ourselves without the neighbors overhearing us and screaming at us over the back fence.

However, there is no use telling The Free Press that the discussion of Winnipeg was a family discussion, not for its ears. The Free Press has taken the whole thing keenly to heart, is grieved, from what they tell me, and bitterly denies my suggestion that a stranger has difficulty in finding a good restaurant in Winnipeg; and its retort to this is curious. It says—or so I am told by reliable witnesses—that you can't find a good restaurant in Victoria. It says you can wander all about this town at night and you will hardly find a restaurant of any sort, good or bad. So Victoria has a nerve saying anything about Winnipeg.

It begins to look as if I would be barred as an undesirable alien out of Winnipeg as I am barred out of Calgary. Pretty soon, if the neighbors keep snooping over the back fence, they will have to lock me in a car with a body guard if I ever go East again, or ship me by express right through from Victoria without a stop anywhere. That is what comes from being a patriotic Victorian and daring to tell the truth.

MELANCHOLY THOUGHT

NEVERTHELESS, there is a melancholy strain of truth in The Free Press. It is true that most of our old-time Victorian eating places, of fond memory, have disappeared. Only a couple of them are left. The New England, wherein half the secret political history of British Columbia was written and where political plots, conspiracies and revenges were regularly planned in the last generation, not long ago closed, and with it an era and a way of life has passed. We have gone in, instead, for the cosy lunch counter where you sit on a stool and stick your elbow into the midriff of strangers on both sides of you.

This is called an economic development, a trend of business away from the old-fashioned sort of places into a new sort. Actually, it is something much deeper than that. It is a trend in human nature most profound. It is part of the growing collectivism of human nature, part of the surrender of the old independence and the old instinct for privacy. People like to herd nowadays, to feel their fellows packed closely about them. They are gregarious, rush together by a kind of instinct as strong as the instinct which makes atoms rush together in a molecule.

ESCAPE

THIS IS THE INSTINCT which has built cities and urban civilizations all through history and eventually smashed them, also. It is a kind of escape from cold reality. Our grandfathers could face not only the wilderness and the weather but, with a faith or a superstition, whichever you choose to call it, they could face life itself, alone.

This generation, with most of its faith gone, has to escape somehow. The crowded lunch counter is just one tiny avenue of escape. Our civilization is equipped with many others. Indeed, it can be demonstrated that half the elaborate equipment of civilization is devised solely to give us a means of escape from reality and from ourselves and from civilization itself. The movies are one of the great avenues of escape. The vast outpouring of romantic fiction is another. But the modern city, concentrating all these escapes together, is itself the greatest escape of all.

It is there that the human, scared by the empty wilderness about him and the empty universe above him, likes to flee and hide himself among his kind.

HERDS

IT IS NOT THE convenience nor the culture of cities that draws people to them—it is the overpowering sense of loneliness outside. If you could look down on this entire Continent from a high altitude you would see that it is composed of vast stretches of empty wilderness with a few tiny pinpoints where men huddle together and erect large buildings, elaborate mechanisms, extraordinary ornaments, expensive but flimsy cardboard barriers to shut themselves off from the grim silence outside which makes them afraid, makes them cower together like the buffalo herds and the wild geese.

In the larger centres they almost succeed in barring reality behind the cardboard. In a place like New York you can live in a state of unreality, in a man-made world of gadgets and machines, shielded from the sky above and the earth below, safe between brick walls all day and all night, steam-heated in winter, air-conditioned in summer, carried horizontally on wheels and vertically on elevators, always within the comforting touch of other humans, and you can almost forget that lonely world outside and the lonely sky, and the reality of things altogether; that is, until you eat something that gives you indigestion or get in the way of a taxi.

BROADWAY

THEY ARE modeling the remainder of all North American civilization on New York and Hollywood. Every Main Street is a tiny Broadway and Douglas Street is trying to be. A large part of the population of America is now contained in cities whose chief purpose and most persistent endeavor is to provide the cosy sense of human companionship, the false sense of security and safety which comes from crowds.

Well, if you have followed this argument thus far, the modern lunch counter, where you're out together eating cheek to cheek, is just part of the general retreat from the one thing which terrifies us — loneliness and reality. It is not a physical need which sends half the business population of Victoria slinking into lunch counters at 10 o'clock in the morning for a cup of coffee. It is the desire to feel the pressure of other humans about them, the sound of human voices, the gurgle of human throats, just as sheep press tight together on a winter night. Restaurant men know that. They set their lunch counter stools close together, just as operators of cabarets and dance halls leave only a small space for dancing, because they know that people don't come to dance, but to be jostled. We want to be jostled and pressed and crushed. We want to be shouted at, to live amid noise, to shut out the silence.

Well, well. This started out to be three lines of courteous reply to Winnipeg, but I seem to have strayed a little. However, The Free Press won't ever see this so it doesn't matter. Still, I am sorry if I hurt its feelings—a man doesn't want all Canada turned against him. But I still say Mr. Bennett was right about the climate of Winnipeg, whatever you say about the food. Mr. Bennett should have stuck to his original verdict.

London, Feb. 3. (Associated Press)—Queen Mother Mary left Buckingham Palace yesterday for the first time since the funeral of the late King George to drive to Aldershot for lunch with her son, the Duke of Gloucester and his wife. King Edward was reported spending the week-end at Sunningdale.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

FEBRUARY 3, 1911
(From The Times Files)

Failure to answer her helm while passing Stewart Island, one of the group in close proximity to San Juan Island, on her way from Union Bay to Mexico, resulted in the big Norwegian steamer Titania, Capt. Kroger, running aground at Roche Harbor early this morning. She was heavily laden with a cargo of coal at the time of her stranding and as the tide is falling she may become a total loss at once.

A legal difficulty of some considerable magnitude has arisen as a result of the city having acquired the Spring Ridge sand pits property as a site for the new high school. It appears that John Avery, who has a cement plant in place on one of the lots, had a contract with the previous owners of the property for the supply of sand and gravel. The city, having determined to take over this property and also acquire the lots which he occupies, he finds his business extinguished as a going concern and seeks compensation to the tune of $20,000.

The climate of Victoria is attracting the prairie and cold States people. Five homesteaders from Alberta, Idaho and Manitoba dropped into the V.I.D.L. offices yesterday to look for farming land on this island and to complain of the cold winters back east.

EFFICIENT POLICE

To the Editor:—For the first time I have found it necessary to apply to the police department for assistance.

Saturday evening my car was stolen from my place on Michigan Street but was recovered by the police on the other side of town within an hour of phoning them.

This result is due to an efficient police force. The Victoria police department is second to none and I wish to thank it for its most excellent service.

S. L. WILSON.

THE SABBATH

To the Editor:—One of the speakers at the meeting of the Lord's Day Alliance declared that "the chief aim and purpose of our alliance . . . is connected with Sunday as a civil institution." All will agree with this statement—which I deeply regret.

These gentlemen no doubt mean well, but as Christians we should follow Christ's example (I Peter ii, 21). Did Jesus teach that we should seek state aid to enforce His gospel? No. His kingdom is based on love not force.

If a man desires to listen to or see a baseball game on Sunday why should the clergy bring all their influence to bear on the state to stop it? If baseball is morally wrong then the civil authorities should act and prohibit it entirely. If the "fan" is a member of a church which disagrees with this amusement, his pastor should labor with him privately. But a follower of Jesus would not use Caesar's sword to compel him to desist.

A great statesman once said, "The very attempt to force men to be religious destroys the temper which alone makes religion possible."

Spurgeon said: "Your Sunday bills and other act-of-parliament religion seem to me to be all wrong. Give us a fair field and no favor, and our faith has no cause to fear. Christ wants no help from Caesar. I should be afraid to borrow help from government; it would look to me as if I rested on an arm of flesh, instead of depending on the living God."

No one would dissent from a one-day-in-seven rest law, but for observers of one day to compel all to keep that day is simply religious coercion.

The above-mentioned speaker said: "There is not the same exact authority in the Bible for the establishment of Sunday as for that of the Sabbath, which we may say was patriracal in origin and re-enacted by Moses."

There is a standing offer of $2,000 for any scriptural authority for Sunday observance. It will never be claimed. The Lord Himself instituted the Sabbath (Gen. ii, 1-3) not the patriarchs. He Himself reiterated it from Sinai (Exo. xx 1-11) not Moses. He kept it while He lived here (Luke iv, 16) and being the originator of the Sabbath could say it was the Lord's day (Mark ii, 28). The first day of the week has no sacred title in the Scriptures.

History shows that pagan predominance in the early church soon led to apostacy and the popularization of Sunday. The Sabbath was looked upon as something "Jewish," but many still held to the Lord's day and refused the counterfeit. They have done so all down the centuries and still do. The alliance may "claim" but they can only claim that "Sunday is both divine and peculiarly Christian"—they cannot quote Christ or His Scriptures.

To be Christian, a doctrine or institution must have been instituted in the Covenant—or Testament—before the death of the Testator, otherwise, it would be invalid. See Hebrews ix, 15-20 and Galatians iii, 15, margin. Many of the great Protestant scholars and churches have admitted that Sunday was only a human institution and instituted by the early church. But it could never be Christian because the New Testament was sealed by the blood of the Testator long before the gradual change commenced.

This is why Baptism, the Lord's Supper, etc., were given before His death. The Sabbath was given before the first Covenant and will continue when the second is ended (Isa. lxvi, 22, 23). H. G. BAYLISS.

RECOVERY IS MORE DEFINITE

Railways Looking For Increased Business, Says C.N.R. Executive

Everything points to a definite economic recovery, and the railroads are looking for a substantial increase in business this year, said Albert E. Warren, vice-president of Canadian National Railways, western region, Winnipeg, who was in Victoria over the week-end inspecting the company's activities on Vancouver Island.

The C.N.R. vice-president was accompanied by Mrs. Warren, and B. T. Chappell, general superintendent, B.C. district, Vancouver.

Arriving in the city by the afternoon boat from Seattle on Saturday, Mr. Warren proceeded up the island as far as Youbou, where he inspected the plant of the Industrial Timber Mills Limited. He inspected the company's car-ferry facilities and was interested in lumber export development at the Ogden Point docks.

Mr. Warren said there appeared to be a decided improvement in the lumber industry.

The company was not contemplating any extensions on Vancouver Island at the present time, but would do everything possible to encourage the development of industry as conditions warranted, he said.

N. F. Fraser, transportation assistant, Point Ellice depot, accompanied Mr. Warren on his up-island trip. Passenger travel developments and prospects were taken up by the vice-president with Charles F. Earle, district passenger agent.

CHURCH ROOTS ARE DEEPER

Dr. J. R. Temple, Here To-day, Finds Progressive Changes in China

"I found great changes in China. The roots of the church are deeper. There is a new spirit in the country. Great progress is being made. The central government is more firmly in the saddle and is ready to govern China," said Dr. John R. Temple, D.D., of the British and Foreign Bible Society, London, England, speaking of the changes wrought in China since he was last there in 1923.

Dr. Temple reached Victoria Saturday aboard the liner Empress of Japan after a six-month tour of the Far East, during which time he has visited the British and Foreign Bible Society's depots at Hongkong, Shanghai, Canton, Chengtu, Hankow, Kalgan, Mukden, Seoul and Kobe. He also passed through Manchukuo.

SOCIETY'S WORK

"The society is doing a very large work in China," said Dr. Temple in explaining that during the last five years there had been circulated 21,000,000 Bibles, New Testaments and portions of the scriptures in China, while the annual circulation in Japan was 500,000 and in Korea 600,000.

Bibles are printed by the society in 700 languages, and the world circulation is 11,000,000, or 30,000 copies each day of the year.

The circulation in China is about 4,000,000 yearly, and it is hoped to increase this to 12,000,000 through co-operation in the immediate future between the British and Foreign Bible Society, the American Bible Society and the China Bible Society. This co-operation will be sought by Dr. Temple on his forthcoming visit to New York.

INTERVIEWED PRESIDENT

While in China on his recent tour, Dr. Temple had an interview at Nanking with President Chiang Kai-shek, who expressed the determination of the central government to govern.

"The advance of Japan in northern China," said Dr. Temple, "is an unsettling factor in Far Eastern politics."

Japan, he said, sought to give the world the impression that China was in a state of chaos and that it was her duty to step in and police the country, whereas it was generally conceded in the Orient that Japan's action was part of her policy to dominate China.

Dr. Temple will leave to-day for Seattle en route to New York and London.

DR. PLASKETT WILL LECTURE

Scientist Will Speak on "Astronomy in Europe" on Thursday

The spring session of the Royal Astronomical Society, Victoria Centre, starts on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Y.W.C.A., with a lecture by Dr. J. S. Plaskett on "Some Sidelights on Astronomy in Europe." It will be illustrated with many lantern slides made by Dr. Plaskett from photographs obtained during his recent visit to Europe.

Two prize contests for members will be announced at this meeting, the object of the contest being to stimulate active interest in amateur observing and original essay on astronomy.

Following is the schedule of spring meetings of the society:

March 10—A symposium: "Recent Developments in the Making of Large Telescopes," Robert Peters, Ronald D. Hopkins and W. R. Hobday.

May 12—"The Planet Saturn," Gordon Shaw.

Change Made In Festival Syllabus

Class 57, vocal solo, boy under twelve years, accompanied by boy or girl under twelve years. The test piece, "The Jolly Waggoner," No. 79,034, Curwen may be substituted for the piece named in the syllabus.

Copies of this test piece may be obtained locally.

The closing date for entries will be February 29.

Saanich Revision Court to Sit Feb. 10

The Saanich court of revision of the 1936 assessment roll will sit on Monday, February 10, to hear appeals from land and improvement assessments which have been filed in writing.

The court will sit formally on February 3, as required by statute, but owing to the fact this date falls on a Saturday, the court will be adjourned to the following Monday.

It was announced this morning that persons who had failed to file notices of appeal before January 28, would have their appeals returned.

This is in accordance with the ruling of the 1935 court, which decided that all appeals should be made in writing ten clear days before the sitting of the court. Several have been received since this date, and under the ruling they will not be permitted to go before the court.

Victoria Gardens Full of Flowers

Dozen Different Plants in Bloom at Angus Mackay's Home

It may be February and Jack Frost may whiten the countryside every morning, but it certainly looked like spring when a reporter visited the garden of Angus Mackay at 24 Olympia Avenue yesterday afternoon.

There were a dozen different flowers in bloom.

A laurel bush was bursting into flower. A jasmine had a few yellow blossoms. Mr. Mackay said it had almost finished flowering, as it had been in bloom all winter.

Crocuses were sticking their heads above the ground. A native cedum carried a lovely spike of pink bells, while a clump of pansies had the odd flower.

The most extraordinary evidence of the mild winter this year, according to Mr. Mackay, was the Helianthemum in bloom. This plant does not usually flower till midsummer. Scabiosa, which also do not come out till May or June, were in blossom.

Marguerites and rock geums were the other plants which gave such an early color to this garden.

ARTIST MAKING WORLD CRUISE

S. Arlent Edwards Worked on Watercolor Sketches As Hobby on Voyage

Completing a world tour, S. Arlent Edwards, U.S. artist, accompanied by his wife and son, arrived in Victoria Saturday by the Empress of Japan from the Orient.

"Must give the younger fellows a chance, you know," said Mr. Edwards in explanation of the fact that he was resting on his laurels and was not now actively engaged in painting.

During the cruise, however, the artist worked on a number of watercolor sketches of the ports touched at. It was an interesting and colorful collection.

From London, Mr. Edwards took passage on the Oxford, visited friends in Ceylon and was greatly interested in Bali and Java, where he did most of his sketching.

After visiting San Francisco and Los Angeles he will sail by the Pennsylvania for New York via the Panama Canal.

NEW CHURCH IN SAANICH AREA

A permit for a new Roman Catholic Church in Saanich, on Palmer Road, was issued at the Municipal Hall last week. The value of the building will be $1,100. The contractor is Pat Mahoney. Two other permits were issued in Saanich this week, bringing the total value of permits issued to $2,950.

In Oak Bay a permit was issued to-day to Gordon A. Potts to build a five-room home at 2159 Central Avenue. The house will be built by day labor.

HOLD CONCERT AT ROYAL OAK

Debate Is Billed as Feature of Entertainment Feb. 4

A varied and interesting programme is announced for the concert to be held in Royal Oak Hall beginning at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, under the auspices of the Royal Oak Women's Institute.

A debate on the motion: "Resolved, that the radio has a greater influence on public opinion than the press" will be one of the principal features of the entertainment. The affirmative will be taken by M. D. Bryce, L. Towler and W. S. Thorpe, and the negative by R. Brydon, Miss H. Thompson and H. Oldfield.

The proceeds of the performance will go to defraying the cost of an addition to the community hall.

The programme will also include variety numbers by Slim Hunter and his rustlers, piano selections by D W. Phillips, remarks by Rev. F. Comley, and community singing.

J. A. Langley, commercial secretary in Tokio, who has been making a tour of the principal industrial centres in Canada, is expected to arrive in Victoria during the early part of this month. Any person interested in meeting Mr. Langley can make arrangements through the local office of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, room 7, Winch Building.

Pacquin's Hand Cream works like a charm . . . unlike lotions that slip stickily over the surface it sinks into under layers of the skin to nourish and soften and whiten. No oily residue but a satin-smooth finish that acts as a make-up, leaving the hands fresher and fairer and younger at once!

And it's so simple to use. Just rub a tiny dab into your hands after each drying . . . use it as a night cream . . . and watch your hands become softer and whiter, take on new beauty from the start.

Weddings

REID—FRYATT

Garden City United Church, Carey Road, was the scene of an interesting wedding on Saturday evening at 8.15 o'clock when Rev. William Allan united in marriage Eleanor Jean, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Fryatt, Snowdrop Avenue, Marigold, and Douglas Gordon, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Reid, Quadra Street.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a smart gown of periwinkle blue silk crepe fashioned with a long flared skirt and with bishop sleeves, the bodice designed with a draped cowl neckline, caught on the shoulders with brilliant buckles, and at the back with minute silver buttons. A wreath of white freesias tied with a silver ribbon adorned her head, and she carried an arm bouquet of pale pink carnations, paper white narcissi and fern.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elsie Fryatt, who wore a geranium silk crepe dress made on long lines with a cowl neck-line. Small cape sleeves draped the shoulders and were caught with brilliant buckles. She carried an arm bouquet of blue iris. The groom was supported by John Noble.

The church was decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride, the wedding party standing before a lattice bower draped with cedar, fern, pussy willows and Oregon grape. Baskets of spring flowers added to the decoration. Miss Anne Allan played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Lillian Reid, who sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register. Messrs. Ian Humphries and Richard Brown acted as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple stood beneath a large white horseshoe to receive the congratulations and best wishes of their friends. They were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Fryatt, in a Marina blue silk crepe dress with matching accessories, and Mrs. Reid in green georgette with matching accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of violets. A buffet supper was served from a daintily appointed table, centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, including a standard lamp from the Wilgar Choral Club and the Young People's Society of the Wilkinson Road and Garden City United Churches, of which the bride was a member; an elderdown quilt from the Spencer's delivery department, and a pair of blankets from the hardware and paint department, where the groom is employed. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. T. Kelly and son, Robert, from Port Angeles, and Mrs. J. Kerr and daughter from Seattle.

After a honeymoon spent up-island, Mr. and Mrs. Reid will reside on Snowdrop Avenue. For traveling the bride wore a smart tailored brown tweed coat with brown accessories.

LOMAS—FRASER

Chemainus, Feb. 3.—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of St. Michael's and All Angels, on January 31, when Enid, eldest daughter of Mrs. M. L. Fraser and the late Montague Langlands Fraser, Sunnyside, Chemainus, became the bride of Philip Stanleigh, son of Mrs. Jane S. Lomas, of Liverpool, England, and the late Lieut.-Col. A. D. Lomas, of Southport, England.

The bride, who looked charming in a white flat crepe ensemble and accessories en suite, was given in marriage by her cousin, Douglas Fulton. The bride carried a bouquet of red and white carnations. The bride's sister, Miss Coralie Fraser, her only attendant, was dressed in a powder blue flat crepe ensemble and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom was supported by his brother, Godfrey Lomas.

Rev. E. O. Robathan performed the ceremony. Mr. Sandland presided at the organ. The church was decorated by the Talent Club and Women's Auxiliary. A wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Lomas left later on a motor tour to southern California.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. John Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fulton, Mrs. Wood, Miss Irene Fraser and Miss Violet Porter, all of Victoria; and Miss Dorothy Fraser and Miss Peggy Beadnell of Courtenay.

Among the many gifts received was a handsome mantel clock from the First Chemainus Guide Company and the association, the bride having been a guide and guide captain.

CLOTHING DEPT. MAKES APPEAL

The clothing department of the City Welfare Organization, 1322 Broad Street, urgently appeals to the generousity of the citizens of Victoria, for clothes and bedding, for needy families resident here. The need is great and if anyone is able to supply one of the following articles listed below, will they please telephone G 8104 of the C.W.O. and they will be gladly collected: A single bed, mattresses, men's trousers and men's boots. Various other articles of clothing are needed for immediate use.

A.Y.P.A. HEAR OF MISSION'S NEEDS

The campaign for funds for the Columbia Coast Medical Mission, which has been undertaken by the A.Y.P.A. local council, was launched Saturday evening at the Memorial Hall.

Supper was served in the gymnasium to 150 volunteer canvassers, all local A.Y.P.A. members. Afterwards an inspiring "pep meeting" was held in the auditorium with Bishop Sexton presiding.

Rev. Dr. Connold from the Columbia Coast Mission Hospital on Pender Island gave a delightfully informal address to the young people, telling of the humorous and pathetic side to medical missionary work.

Captain Rev. John Antle, who navigates the Ms. John Antle on her missionary cruises along the coast of British Columbia, voiced his appreciation of the work being done by the A.Y.P.A. He then showed interesting moving pictures depicting scenes and incidents from the voyages along the coast of the C.C.M. boats.

Ben Drew of Vancouver gave the audience some "pointers" on canvassing to help prepare them for the tremendous task which is facing them.

CHAPTER NO. 17, O.E.S., VALENTINE DANCE

A Valentine dance has been arranged to take place on Monday evening, February 10, at 9 o'clock, at the Shrine, by Victoria Chapter, No. 17, Order of Eastern Star. There will be refreshments and a tombola. A good orchestra has been engaged for the occasion and an enjoyable evening is anticipated for everyone. Tickets may be secured from members of the chapter or from Mrs. Jack Trace, telephone E0247.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Raikes, 2307 Windsor Road, with their family, will leave shortly for Ottawa, where they will reside in future.

OVERFLOW AT SUPPER DANCE

Over 300 Dancers at Empress Hotel Affair on Saturday Night

So great was the attendance at the weekly supper dance at the Empress Hotel on Saturday evening that the ballroom was crowded to capacity and tables were placed in the adjoining foyer to take care of the overflow.

Well over 300 dancers were on the floor.

The music was snappy, with such new numbers as the waltz "Alone" and the foxtrot "With Louise at Lake Louise" being featured by William F. Tickle and the Empress orchestra.

Daffodils in golden profusion gave an artistic touch to the supper tables.

Those noticed in the large throng of dancers included Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ridout, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Clough (Saskatoon), Mr. and Mrs. A. Jubilee Linen Shower Friday

Face and Dish Towels Pressing Need Just Now

With a splendid record of a year's assistance in the work of the Jubilee Hospital, members of the Women's Auxiliary will keep open house on Friday, Feb. 7., for their annual linen shower. The social afternoon will begin at 3 o'clock at the Nurses' Home, when tea will be served and a musical programme given.

On account of the larger number of patients this past year, there has been a heavier draft upon the linen room. The contribution of 952 pieces at last year's shower, will therefore, it is hoped, be exceeded next Friday. Face towels, dish towels and wash cloths are specially requested.

Provision for the housekeeping wants of the hospital family of several hundred, of whom the majority are sick people, has heavily taxed the resources of the auxiliary. A continuous stream of sheets for beds, towels for toilets, flannelette for night wear and sheets, napkins for trays, and all the requisites for a well-ordered household, has poured out of the resources, furnished to a large extent by the women helpers of the hospital.

The aid given by the auxiliary is given at other points than in the housekeeping proper. One of the major gifts last year was a new portable X-ray machine that cost nearly $1,400, a gift in which Junior Women's Auxiliary shared.

The maternity department came in for special attention during the year. Linoleum for the utility room, standard lamps, bed-pan sterilizers, and other supplies, resulted in a total expenditure of $400. At the moment there is special need for curtain materials for seven rooms.

A valuable addition to hospital equipment was the inductotherm, that was furnished at a cost of $410. Christmas cheer was bountifuly supplied, the Jubilee Santa Claus presenting a bill to the ladies for $150. Since August the auxiliary has been almoner for a supply of tobacco that has been donated for indigent old men in the annex.

The auxiliary meets monthly for the transaction of business, and in addition a group of industrious needlewomen meet on the first and second Wednesdays of the month to make up material and attend to the contents of the mending bag.

VICTORIA W.I. HELD BRIDGE

A very successful bridge tea was held by the Victoria Women's Institutes January ways and means committee, Mrs. W. Peden being in charge. The winners were Mrs. E. Gough and Mrs. E. M. Lorimer.

On Friday, Feb. 7, the regular social will be held and an interesting programme has been arranged for the afternoon.

An event of noteworthy attention is planned for Thursday, Feb. 13, when a display of Wabasso cotton goods will be given in the A.O.F. hall. This display is most seasonable as new spring and summer styles will be worn by models.

The instructors of the art classes will welcome anyone interested in that work on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 635 Fort Street.

Cathedral Scouts To Hold Bridge

The second Cathedral Scouts will hold a bridge party on Tuesday evening, February 11 at K. of P. Hall on Broad Street, at 8 o'clock. Contract and auction will be played; players may make their own tables as it will be pivot. Prizes and refreshments will be provided. Proceeds for the purpose of finishing the construction of the new Scout hall, on the cathedral grounds. The boys have worked hard on this building and is certainly a credit to what a few youngsters can do with the help of their dads, but further friends are necessary for the completion of same. They hope for generous support at their bridge. Tables may be reserved by phoning E 9458 and G 5683.

MAY INVOKE POPE'S HELP

Canadian Press from Havas

Rome, Feb. 3.—Pope Pius XI's influence may be invoked to end the estrangement between former Queen Victoria of Spain, now residing in the Villa Savoia here, and her husband ex-King Alfonso XIII, Spanish royalist circles hinted today.

The former Queen arrived in Rome yesterday from London ostensibly to attend the birth of her first grandchild, expected by her daughter, the former Infanta Beatrice, now Princess Torlonia.

A reconciliation has long been contemplated by Alfonso and urged by his monarchist followers for political reasons, it is said.

Active Week Planned—This week will be an active one for the Women of the Moose, Victoria Chapter No. 25. On Tuseday, Feb. 4, Mrs. H. Parker and Mrs. M. Pearce will be hostesses at a sewing bee, at Mrs. Parker's home, 3075 Washington Avenue, and a special request is made for old felt hats. On Thursday evening, Feb. 6, Mrs. A. Hatcher, 2923 Sumas Avenue, will be the hostess at a silver tea.

STYLE SETTER

DIFFERENT-TASTING DRESSINGS IMPROVE WINTER SALADS

By MARY E. DAGUE

Nothing makes me more irritable than to be served a salad with an insipid whipped cream dressing. Even a fruit salad should not have a gooey dressing. Better serve the fruit plain with its natural refreshing tang than to swathe it in tasteless whipped cream and misname it salad.

Horseradish dressing is particularly good with celery, carrot and apple salad, although any bland vegetable gains interest if served with this piquant sauce.

HORSERADISH DRESSING

One-half cup whipping cream, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons grated horseradish, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon powdered sugar, ⅛ teaspoon white pepper.

Whip cream until firm. Season with salt, pepper, sugar and paprika. Add horseradish and vinegar and serve. If prepared horseradish is used, less vinegar may be needed.

Potato mayonnaise is an excellent dressing to use with non-starchy vegetables. A mixture of Chinese cabbage and red cabbage both finely shredded and mixed with the dressing make a delightful salad to serve with roast pork.

POTATO MAYONNAISE

Two good-sized potatoes, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 1 cup mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper

Boil potatoes in their jackets. Peel and put through ricer. Season with salt and pepper and let cool. Add slowly to mayonnaise, beating constantly to make it perfectly smooth. Beat in onion juice, drop by drop.

Three thin slices of bacon, 4 tablespoons vingear, ¼ teaspoon sugar, 3 drops tabasco sauce, few drops onion juice.

Cut bacon in dice with kitchen shears. Cook over a very low heat until crisp. Stir in vinegar and sugar. Reheat and add tabasco sauce and onion juice. Pour at once over curly endive, shredded lettuce, romaine or tender dandelion greens.

A stand-by for Sunday night lunch when more people come than you expect is the hard-boiled egg dressing:

One teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, 1 raw egg yolk, 3 hard-cooked eggs, 4 tablespoons salad oil, 4 tablespoons vinegar.

Mix mustard, salt and paprika with raw egg yolk. Add hard-cooked egg yolks and mash with a fork. Work until mixture is perfectly smooth. Slowly add oil, beating constantly and thinning with vingear as necessary. Beat well and add the whites of the hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped. Mix well with lettuce and salad materials in salad bowl.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast — Grape juice, cereal, fish and rice on toast, milk, coffee.

Dinner—Boned and stuffed shoulder of fresh pork, scalloped corn, cabbage salad with potato mayonnaise, pineapple pudding, milk, coffee.

Esquimalt Community Club—The Esquimalt Community Club will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the guild room of St. Paul's Church. All members are asked to attend.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

A Baltimore nutrition worker made the rounds of cafeterias watching girls choose their meals. She found them selecting menus like these:

2—Corn beef hash, mashed potatoes, succotash, bread, corn-bread, butter.

4—Beef croquette, mashed potatoes, stewed tomatoes, bread, butter.

Not one of these girls had ordered a well-balanced meal. Every one of these menus lacked something necessary in a diet. A suitable diet must have proper combinations of foods, so what is lacking in one food will be provided in another. You will notice that not one of these girls' menus included milk or fresh vegetables.

Dr. M. Fishbein

Nowadays, too, it is wise to emphasize salads, because salads mean mixtures of fresh vegetables, such as herbs, lettuce, celery or water-cress, and frequently, in addition, fruits such as grapefruit, orange, apple, pear, or banana. Furthermore, salads may be spiced or dressed with salad oil, vinegar and pepper, which provide additional fats and vitamins.

* * *

However, cafeteria patrons are not the only people who may eat unbalanced diets; many farm people also do, the investigators found.

In Vermont nineteen out of fifty farm households studied had a satisfactory choice of foods. In the thirty-one remaining homes too much money was spent on meat and sugar and not enough on cheese and milk.

In Ohio, rural families were found to be buying eatables they should have been getting fresh from their own farms.

Worst diet conditions were found on southern farms. Few people in the south have year-round gardens. In 1929 half of Alabama's farm families purchased enough milk for their own use, but many farmers who had cows sold their milk and butter, while their families lived for more than half a year on bread, hominy, rice, potatoes, and syrup, with some form of salt pork.

In other southern states, cereals, salt pork, and sugar, were used without much seasonal variation.

Farm families, too, must learn the necessity of selecting diets to provide food essentials for the family. They must learn, too, that it is better to eat the fresh vegetables they raise, and preserve the family health, than to sell these foods and buy other comestibles in the stores.

TODAY'S HEALTH QUESTION

Q.—Is there any cure for diseased tonsils besides operation? How is it possible to determine that tonsils are diseased? How can I select a doctor qualified to treat nose, throat and ear troubles?

A.—An experienced physician can judge whether tonsils should be removed by studying the condition of the tonsils themselves, the general health of the patient and certain special indications, such as loss of weight, muscular and joint pains and, frequently, sore throat or lack of appetite. As a matter of fact, when there is serious indication of diseased tonsils, they probably are better out than in. The way to select a skillful doctor for throat operation is to consult the family physician, who will be acquainted with the qualifications of specialists.

Rebekah President's Visit — The president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, Mrs. Stella Matson of Penticton, will make her official visit to Carne Rebekah Lodge No. 45 I.O.O.F. this week, and to welcome her, a luncheon will be held in the Douglas Hotel private dining-room on Wednesday next at 1.30 p.m. On Thursday, Feb. 6, the meeting in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Douglas Street, will open at 7.30 p.m., when the president will deliver an address, followed by a banquet and programme. The members of Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1, and visiting sisters are cordially invited to be present.

STUDENTS GAVE FINE CONCERT

Enthusiastic Audience at Dominion Academy's Recital

At the Shrine Auditorium students of the Dominion Academy of Music appeared in concert Friday evening, an event greatly appreciated by the large audience present, judging by the prolonged applause accorded each performer, which amounted to a recall in practically every instance.

But the evening reached its pinnacle when it was announced at the interval that, in tribute to the memory of His Late Majesty, Stanley Shale, principal of the school, would, by special request, play the "Funeral March" of Chopin. The exquisit tone, the hushed, reverent, yet sometimes exalted mood, gave an all-too-brief glimpse of incomparable artistry.

Of the standard of performance among the students perhaps the finest tribute that can be paid lies in the fact that, although the programme was a fairly long one, the audience showed a genuine inclination for more, even seeming a little disappointed when "The King" was played. Two only of the ten pianists were juniors, both boys, and both showing a remarkable music-consciousness and giving thoughtful, well-controlled renderings of their respective pieces.

Of the advanced pianists, many are already well known to local concert platforms and their performances were, as ever, marked by the masterly control of clean, unconscious technique, vitality of rhythm, and depth and range of tone-color. Outstanding throughout the programme was the natural, unfaltering memorization. Mention must be made of the satisfying interpretation by Miss Maquinna Daniels of Stanley Shale's charming composition, colorful as an April day, "Mood-phase."

Representing other departments of the school were four elocutionists and four vocalists. These students, all pupils of Miss Aileen Parker, were consistant in the clarity of their diction and the splendid imagery of their interpretations, and among the localists particular mention must be made of fine breath control, delightful pianissimos, and again, a wide range of tone-color. The able accompanists for the evening were Miss E. Barfoot and Miss Kathleen Irvine.

Those taking part in the programme were Douglas Grant, Julia Kent Jones, Robin Wood, Joy Groves, Maryan Peterson, Ruth Horton, Catherine Craig, Marygold Nash, Elsie Le Gresley, and the Misses Louise Noble, Evelyn Harper, Josephine Charlebois, Elsie Friend, Kathleen Lowe, Kathleen Irvine, Maquinna Daniels and Ailsa Barclay.

STRAWBERRY VALE

Wilkinson Road United Church held its annual meeting on Thursday evening, Rev. W. Allan presiding. The report of the board of session was presented by N. McGillivray. The report from the board of stewards was presented by A. E. Campion.

The report of the Women's Auxiliary was read by Mrs. A. J. Rainer, the Women's Missionary Society report by Mrs. Nott, and the Sunday School report was presented by N. McGillivray.

Reports from the C.G.I.T. and Young People's groups were presented by Anne Allan.

The choir registered a year of successful work with E. Boorman as president, and D. W. Phillips as choir-leader.

Mrs. Walter Allison, with A. E. Campion, David Lehman and John Hoy, were elected to fill the vacancies on the board of stewards.

St. Andrew's Y.W.M.S.—The regular monthly meeting of the Young Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, which was to be held to-morrow, has been postponed to February 11, and to be held at the home of Miss Frances Lightbody, 1397 St. David Street, at 8.15 o'clock. On this occasion the members will be favored with a talk by Mrs. A. A. MacKinnon, the newly-appointed presbyterial president, and it is hoped that the members will make a special endeavor to attend. The members are reminded of the change in the hour of starting.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

CHILD WHO LACKS CONFIDENCE IS MORE PRONE TO STAMMER

The problem of stammering is an exceedingly complicated one and it would be presumptuous to either minimize its difficulties or to be too cocksure about its cure. But quite obviously, there are some ways in which we can prevent the child developing that fear of his ability to talk which may be the result of some of his experiences. For a discussion of the whole subject we suggest the leaflet, "Help for the Stammering Child," which may be had for a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

THREE-YEAR-OLD HESITATES

The following letter is illustrative of one way in which a mother might develop the child's confidence in his ability to speak without stammering.

"My daughter is three and one-half years old and speaks clearly and has quite a good vocabulary. Lately she has been hesitating before words as if she couldn't get the word clearly in her mind. For instance, the other day she said, 'straw' and then waited a long time before she said 'berries.'

"Now, what I want to know is: Shall I say the word for her, so that she can finish her sentence quickly, or shall I wait until she finishes it herself? She doesn't stammer, but I want to avoid her doing that."

DON'T OFFER HELP

The way to avoid this is not to give her the idea that you think she needs help in talking. If each time a child essayed to get off a chair you stepped up and helped her off, very shortly she would lose all confidence in her ability to get down and would then wait to be helped. This is not far from the above kind of speech situation.

Confidence in her ability to speak is a stimulus to speaking, while lack of confidence is one of the handicaps which keeps stutterers stuttering.

Summer Sweethearts

Her father and her stepmother had no idea what went on under those smooth fair brows. Inwardly Katharine seethed; outwardly, at least, she was calm. This riding club of Michael Heatheroe's had given her a much-needed outlet lately. When things palled on her, when life seemed "too utterly poisonous" to bear another minute, she would slip into her riding things and drive over to Shady Ridge where the good smell of trampled earth, the stamping of horses in their stalls satisfied something in herself. Not that she would acknowledge, even for a minute, that she was interested in Michael. . . .

* * *

A glance at her watch now warned her that her hour was nearly ended. She spurred the little horse back in the direction from which she had come.

Fury paused obediently now at the intersection of the bridle path and River Road. Michael had taught her to do this and, even though Katharine's touch on the bridle urged her on, she hesitated, nervously pawing the red earth. Katharine, roused from her thoughts, stared unseeingly for a moment into the eyes of the girl in the little green car which had drawn up as Fury emerged from the green tunnel.

"Zoe Parker! When did you get back?"

The car door slammed and Zoe ran forward uttering shrill cries of greeting. Zoe, Katharine told herself critically, was really lovely. Those glittering white teeth, that charming warm blush of sunburn, those bright blue dancing eyes! Pity Zoe was such a crashing fool!

"Hel-lo, darling!"

"You look smart!"

"Thanks. You do, too, darling!" Zoe cried. "We just got in last night. I was going to call you. How are you and what've you been doing?"

"Oh, the usual," Katharine drawled.

"I'm crazy to see everybody," Zoe declared. Everybody knew that Zoe's ambitious mother had whisked her to Europe in May in order to avoid a scandal about Gibbs Larkin. Gibbs was thirty-five, handsome in a thoroughly dissolute way, conscienceless. Zoe had fallen headlong in love with him, with all her lightning impetuousness. Gibbs, people said, would never marry. He was one of those eternal bachelors who sip sweets where they will. Zoe had recklessly and defiantly been seen with him every place.

These girls who fall so wildly and recklessly in love, thought Katharine, contemptuously!

They chatted for a few moments longer, making an engagement to meet that afternoon.

"Has she 'got over' Gibbs?" Katharine wondered. She did hope Zoe would spare her the confidences. These love recitals were bound to be boring. Katharine prided herself on her imperviousness to the grand passion. Love was stupid. It tied you all up, got your feelings confused. There was no sense to it . . .

All of which, of course, had nothing whatever to do with her feelings about Michael. She and Michael had simply been friends, good comrades, and it was perfectly natural she should be slightly miffed when he so casually gave away the hour which had been sacred to her for months . . .

Her face reddened, as she waved good-bye to Zoe.

"What's the matter, darling?"

It was because she had been annoyed to have used the word "sacred," even to herself, in connection with her friendship with Michael. What was the matter with her anyway?

* * *

That was Thursday morning. On Friday she went for her ride as usual, and Michael was there, tall, lean and casual.

"Mawning!"

He tightened a strap, patted Prince Charlie's gleaming flank. "Storm comin' up!" he announced.

"Oh, do you think so?" But Katharine's query was not the usual feminine flutter. She adored storms.

"Maybe I'd better take this." Michael flung an oilskin slicker across Prince Charlie's back.

"Not for me," Katharine said coolly.

The red-haired young man glanced at her quizzically a moment, then called to Tips: "Here, catch this!"

The slicker sailed through the air, landing in a pile of hay. The colored boy ran to retrieve it, with a flash of white teeth in an ebony face.

"Just as you say," Michael announced. He swung a long leg over his western saddle, leading the way.

The trees arched overhead in a conspiracy of silence. In the dim interstices where the sky could be seen there were patches of angry clouds. From the west rose a rumble of deep thunder.

"You won't mind gettin' wet?"

Katharine laughed. "No, why should I?"

The deep roll of distant thunder increased. They crossed an open meadow with a river meandering alongside and an orange flash of lightning licked across the sky. Suddenly they were again in the woods, the horses wading carefully through the shallow stream and plunging up the muddy banks.

Now the rain came down, suddenly, in torrents, in violent sheets. For the main part, the trees protected them, but soon the path again crossed a civilized road, a main highway. Great angry peals of thunder sounded, and the sky was made livid by the almost continual flashes of lightning. The horses were nervous. Fury danced and whinnied, refusing to proceed.

At the side of the road was a small blue-roofed cottage which had once housed a district school, and later an amateur radio station. It was unoccupied now. At the rear was a rude shelter for horses. Michael, without consulting Katharine, cantered back to her and, seizing Fury's bridle, led the nervous little animal under cover.

"We'd better stop here a minute," he said quietly. "It's foolhardy to go on just now."

Michael helped her to dismount. Then he tied both Fury and Prince Charlie to the rude rafi of the shelter and quieted them with his reassuring voice.

"We can go inside, if you like," he told the girl, after a particularly vicious flash of light. "I had to stop here last week in that cloudburst—remember? I had a party of kids. They were scared stiff."

He pushed open the door, disclosing a narrow room with a bricked fireplace and some battered school benches. Someone had evidently built a fire. There were the remains of logs, charred and broken, in the grate.

"Cheerful place," Katharine commented dryly.

He glanced at her curiously. "It's not so much. Here—let me dust that thing off. You can sit down."

"I'd better not." Katharine hugged her arms about her.

Michael knelt, making shift, with a bundle of twigs at the side of the fireplace, and the remains of the logs. Presently he had a blaze going. The west wind whipped in at the open door and Katharine shivered in spite of herself.

"Well, go on—lecture me—" she said, looking down at him.

"For what?"

"Oh, for being stubborn—not taking the slicker—"

"Oh, that!"

He turned back to the fire, appearing to forget her.

GEN. KONDYLIS FUNERAL HELD

Canadian Press-Havas

Athens, Feb., 3.—A funeral service for the late General Kondylis, former Greek dictator and leader of the movement which restored King George II to the throne, was held in the cathedral here yesterday. Complete calm prevailed throughout Greece.

A big wreath from Premier Mussolini was laid near the casket, together with wreaths from King George, Premier Constantine Demerdjis and aides in the war ministry.

King George attended the cathedral service despite a slight attack of the grip. Premier Demerdjis was prevented from attending because of illness.

After the services conducted by the orthodox primate, the Archbishop of Athens, the coffin was borne from the church by soldiers and placed on a gun carriage for its last journey to Tricala, Thessaly, where it was entombed in the Kondylis family vault.

L. M'DONELL, VANCOUVER, DIES

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 3.—Leslie McDonell, fifty-seven, provincial civil service employee and former Royal Canadian Mounted Police constable of Regina, is dead here.

Mr. McDonell suffered a heart attack Saturday and succumbed before medical aid could be called.

Born in England, Mr. McDonell served with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Regina for a number of years before coming here twenty-five years ago when he became attached to the provincial income tax office, a position which he held until his death.

U.S. Teams Dominate Games In National Hockey League

THE SPORTS MIRROR

A NEW era has dawned for Canadian horsemen. During 1936 more Canadian-owned horses, Canadian-born jockeys and trainers will perform in the United States than in any previous racing year. After the close of the Canadian racing season, thoroughbreds in large numbers were shipped across the border and they are now quartered on both sides of the continent. The horses range from top-flight handicap performers to bottom-priced claimers.

* * *

E. F. Seagram, Waterloo, Ont.; H. C. Hatch, Toronto, and J. E. Smallman, London, head the migrating stables, while Eddie Litzenberger, Calgary; George Woolf, Cardston, Alta., and Bobby Watson, Montreal, top the list of jockeys. Willie "Smokey" Saunders, Calgary, who rode Omaha to victory in last year's Kentucky Derby is expected also to resume riding in Florida. Seagram and Smallman are campaigning in Florida, while Hatch is gunning for major awards in California. Also on the Pacific Coast is the stable of Dr. C. N. Mooney of Toronto, starring Ted Clark.

* * *

Jockey Watson, signed by Smallman here two years ago, has been a consistent victor aboard his employer's horses. He piloted twenty-two winners at Tropical Park race track before he was forced by a foot injury to cancel engagements. He placed second to Pat Remillard, Madison, N.D., in number of winners in Canada last year, but he had a better winning percentage. Woolf and Litzenberger, products of western Canada half-mile tracks, have been doing all their riding in the United States for some time. Woolf, accepting mounts at Santa Anita race track, entered along the Pacific Coast, while Litzenberger spent some time in eastern Canada before leaving for "big money."

* * *

Last winter, Woolf, with an exhibition of heavy riding on Azucar, won the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap and may have a leg over the same horse when the race is run this February. Litzenberger, a dare-devil jockey, placed among the first ten jockeys last year after setting the pace for a time. His services are sought by owners and as a rule he has the choice of material.

Seagram, winner of the King's Plate, Canadian turf classic, has a formidable stable for an attack at the Hialeah Park meeting. Stand Pat, five-year-old son of John P. Grier, has been nominated for the outstanding handicaps. He was nominated for the big Santa Anita race, but he is not expected to be shipped west. Trained by Frank Gippin, the stable is nearly always in the best of condition. Other horses in the stable include Knave, Tempestuous, Sablin, Overstimulate, Gay Sympathy, Biography and Santan.

* * *

On the Coast, both Hatch and Mooney are after the rich race. Hatch has Ariel Cross and Crofter in the hands of Lloyd Gentry, while Ted Clark is being put through trials by C. A. Marone. Although dabbling in better than average platers, Smallman has been having success. The stable, headed by Quickly, includes Centremarch, Mucho Gusto, Billy Wise, Primute, Shepherd Boy and Sweet Guinea. Smallman is expected back in Canada for the opening of the season during May.

* * *

Canadian jockeys in the United States include J. Passero, Fort Erie; George Watson, Montreal; R. Merritt, Montreal; H. Peden, Toronto; K. Horvath, Toronto; Nick Wall, Montreal, and Sterling Young, Toronto. Among the Canadian stables represented in the south and west are those of D. R. Stuart, Hamilton; F. Fair, Brantford; J. Badame, Conny Smythe, Erindale Stable, C. J. Patchett and R. H. New, Toronto.

Brentwood Defeats University School

Brentwood College upset University School's 130-pound ruggers on Saturday at Mount Tolmie 24 to 0, Brentwood 13 to 0 at the half. Holmes, Symons, Izard, Mears and Nation scored unconverted tries which together with a try resulting from a forward rush gave Brentwood their total of points. Reg. Wenman refereed.

The teams follow:

Brentwood—Wells, Symons, Nation, Mears, Allen, Harvey, Ryan, Izard, Holmes, Angus, Bassett, Wilby, Chadwick Hinton and Drury.

Rangers, Boston And Chicago In Impressive Wins

First-named Turn Back Montreal Maroons 4 to 2; Boston Trims Amerks

CHICAGO HAWKS BLANK TORONTO

Toronto 3, Chicago 2.
Detroit 3, Canadiens 1.
Rangers 4, Maroons 2.
Toronto 0, Chicago 2.
Boston 2, Americans 1.

Those who believe the American division of the National Hockey League will produce the next Stanley Cup winner could point to the week-end results today to back their argument. United States teams won four of the five intersection games played.

Toronto Maple Leafs won the only victory for the Canadian forces with a 3 to 2 overtime decision over Chicago Black Hawks at Toronto Saturday night, and Hawks evened that by beating the Leafs 2 to 0 in Chicago yesterday evening.

New York Rangers won 4 to 2 from Montreal Maroons at Madison Square Garden and Bruins took a 2 to 1 decision from New York Americans at Boston in other games yesterday evening, while Detroit won the second Saturday encounter 3 to 1 from Canadiens in Montreal.

Toronto made the only move in the standings, inching up to within a point of Maroons, leaders of the Canadian section. The four winning American division teams stayed just where they were with Chicago leading Detroit by a point and Rangers and Bruins trailing Wings by three.

METZ IS HERO

Nick Metz was the hero of the Toronto win with a nicely finished goal in overtime. When Mike Karakas dove out of the net in an attempt to smother his shot, Metz drew the puck aside and flipped it into the net.

Glen Brydson had sent the game into overtime by scoring in the fifteenth minute of the third period after Bill Thoms and Frank Clancy had given Leafs a 2 to 1 lead with their second period counter. Mush March scored Hawks' first in the opening period of the well-played game.

Toronto had more of a margin of play at Chicago yesterday evening, but no luck. Karakas kicked out thirty-seven of their shots to score his seventh shutout of the season.

Paul Thompson and Downie McFadyen did the Chicago scoring, McFadyen alone and Thompson with Doc Romnes, Johnny Gottselig and March assisting. Both came in the third period, one in the last minute of play.

Detroit snapped a losing streak of three straight games when they took Canadiens and the division leadership for a day until Hawks won it back. Ebbie Goodfellow, the American division leading bad man, put Wings up in the first period and Syd Howe and Gordon Pettinger added the others.

While Goodfellow was serving one of the game's two penalties in the middle session, Canadiens got their only goal on a gang play, Armand Mondou scoring and George Mantha, Paul Haynes, Irvin Frew and Leroy Goldsworth getting assists.

All the scoring in the American-Boston game came in the last three minutes of overtime after the teams had played more than three periods of listless hockey.

Some of the crowd were on their way out when Max Kaminsky scored. With less than two minutes to play, Lorne Carr tied the game on a pass from Art Chapman and Boston immediately came back with the winning goal.

Dit Clapper scored the valuable goal, but Babe Siebert got most of the credit for the play. He led the rush and pased to Red Beattie, who relayed it to Clapper. Siebert also had a part in the first counter.

Montreal Maroons had the score tied in the first period of the game at New York, but three Ranger goals in the middle session decided the issue. Frank Boucher, Cecil Dillon, Bill Cook and Howie Morenz scored for Rangers, while Herbie Cain and Dave Trottier were the Maroon marksmen.

Summaries follow:

TORONTO-CHICAGO

Second period—2, Toronto, Thoms (Conacher), 14.40; 3, Toronto, King Clancy (Day), 16.10. Penalties: M. March and Day.

FOUL LOSES KRUSE MATCH

When his rough tactics finally wound up with him striking the referee "Fat Griffin, a couple of times, Bob Kruse, Portland wrestler, lost the main event to "Wee Willie" Davis, 250-pound Virginia grappler, at the Tillicum gym Saturday.

Griffin's decision in awarding the match to Davis was an unpopular one, the fans apparently feeling both grapplers should have been allowed to finish the rough and tumble fight out. Both used foul tactics throughout the four rounds of their scheduled eight-round match.

Babe Smallinski, Poland, wrestling at 199 pounds took the fast semi-main event from Glen Stone, Portland, when Stone missed a body butt and went through the ropes. He landed outside the ring, knocking himself out and Smallinski had to carry him to the dressing room. Stone took the first fall of the match in the second round with a series of body butts and body press. Smallinski got a fall with a Boston crab in the fourth.

USUAL TACTICS

Kruse opened the match with his usual tactics and found little time for wrestling between arguing with the crowd, the referee and Davis. When they finally did get in and do a bit of wrestling, Davis was as bad as Kruse in using foul tactics.

Once, after Kruse had been the victim of eye gouging, he grabbed the towel from his corner and got a strangle hold on Davis with it. Griffin tried to intervene and was thrown out of the ring. He was thrown to the floor but gamely came back to separate the two. On occasions like these Griffin's smaller stature was no match for the two wrestlers. It was just after this piece of foul work that Griffin awarded Davis the match.

Kruse gave vent to his anger at the decision and left the ring vowing he would not come back to Victoria when Griffin was refereeing.

BUSY BEE CAFE SOCCER VICTORS

Busy Bee Cafe, formerly the Victoria Indians, continued to show better form when they defeated the second-place Marigold eleven 3 to 1 yesterday in a Saanich and District Soccer League fixture played at Hampton Road Park yesterday afternoon. Smith refereed.

Victoria Meat shut out the Bluebirds 3 to 0 at Reynolds Road and Pitzer and Nez scored a 5 to 3 win over James Island in an exhibition game at the Island.

ROLLER HOCKEY

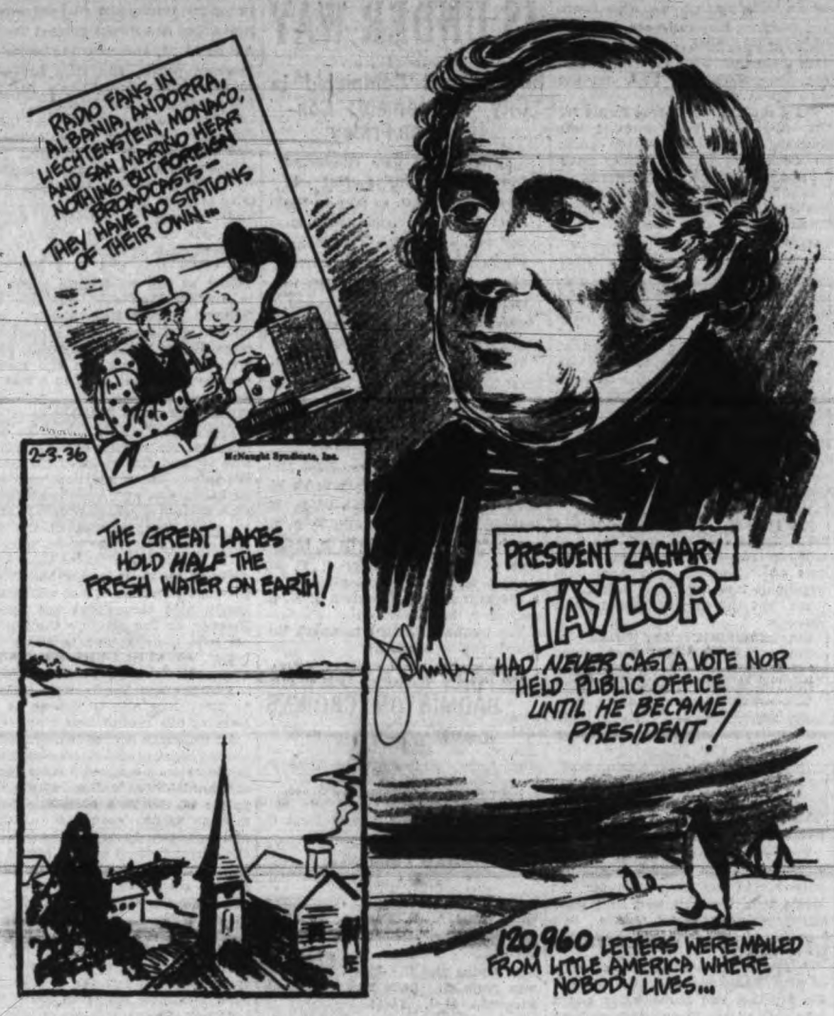
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix



The first, last, and only public office that Zachary Taylor ever held was the Presidency. And strange as it seems, up to the time of his elevation to the nation's highest office, he had never cast a vote in a public election.

Zachary Taylor came to the White House from the army. As the outstanding hero of the Mexican War, he rode on a wave of popular acclaim to the Presidency in spite of the fact that his political experience and learning in statemanship were entirely lacking.

He was born in Virginia in 1784, the son of a Revolutionary War officer. Young Taylor had no formal schooling, but followed in his father's footsteps in an army career. Three of his four brothers also joined the army.

In the national war scare that preceded the War of 1812, Taylor was appointed lieutenant, later captain, in a new regiment that was formed by Congressional authorization. When war was declared, Taylor won fame and a major's rank for defeating Tecumseh's Indians who were allied with the British.

He resigned later from the army when his rank was reduced to a captaincy, but was reinstated as a major. Following this, through the Black Hawk war and other Indian engagements, and in the war with Mexico, Taylor distinguished himself. He was chosen as a popular Presidential candidate and elected over Lewis Cass in a close but issueless and listless election.

As President, Taylor—himself a political novice—surrounded himself with carefully chosen advisors. He died after sixteen months in office.

Swimmers Shatter National Records

Five Canadian Marks Go By Boards at Vancouver Gala; Jack Medica Leads Onslaught; Washington and Mainland Stars Here Next Saturday

Vancouver, Feb. 3.—Five new Canadian swimming records stood today, two to the credit of the United States swimmers and three to Canadian natators after aquatic stars from the Washington Athletic Club had invaded the Crystal Pool here Saturday night to create stiff competition against members of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club.

Jack Medica, University of Washington, holder of several world aquatic marks, clipped 1 7-10 seconds from the Canadian record for the 200-yard freestyle event when he won by three yards from Bobby Hooper, Vancouver A.S.C., with a time of 2.02 flat. The record was formerly held by George Burleigh, Toronto, who set a mark of 2.03 7-10 at Hamilton in 1934. So close was the race that Hooper also clipped 3-10 of a second from Burleigh's mark with a time of 2.03 3-10 as he came home at Medica's heels.

NEW RELAY MARK

The Washington Athletic Club's senior women's relay team, consisting of Olive McKean, Betty Lean, Mary Lou Petty and Doris Buckley, completed the 200-yard senior women's event in four relays with a time of 1.56 flat to clip 3 1-5 seconds from the Canadian mark. The old record was 1.59 1-5, held by the Toronto Dolphinets team since February, 1935. Valerie Rowan, the Vancouver A.S.C.'s latest sixteen-year-old sensation, Marion Moffat of the same club and the Vancouver club's junior medley relay team were responsible for the other new marks.

Miss Rowan shattered the 220-yard freestyle mark for junior girls with a time of 2.50 3-5, clipping a full 3 2-5 seconds from the mark of 2.54 made by Pat O'Hara of the Vancouver A.S.C., in February last year.

Miss Moffat turned on the heat in the final lap of the 100-yard backstroke event to better her own record for the distance with a time of 1.16 3-10. Her old mark was 1.16 8-10.

The Canadian mark for the 150-yard medley relay was bettered when the Vancouver club's team, consisting of Kay Davidson, Joan Langdon and Valerie Rowan, swam the distance in 1.48 flat. The former record of 1.54 9-10 was held by a team from the Hamilton Aquatic Club since last year.

The best race of the night was a match event between Jack Medica and Edward Cline of the Vancouver A.S.C. Medica won by a matter of inches from the local swimmer with a time of 1.08 for the 100 yards. Medica completed the evening by grabbing off second place honors in the twenty-five-yard butterfly breaststroke event which was won by Bobby Hooper with a time of 12 2-5.

The only other American placings were filled by Olive McKean and Betty Lean, both from the Washington A.C., who took second and third place honors, respectively, in the 100-yard backstroke.

COMING HERE

The Washington group will go to Victoria with a squad from the Vancouver club next week-end to compete with members of Victoria clubs in a gala at Victoria's Crystal Garden.

COLLEGIATES CAGE VICTORS

Defeat Chinese Students 30 to 19 at Y Gym; Junior Students Win

St. Louis College hoopsters Saturday evening continued their bid for championship in the Sunday School Basketball League at the Y.M.C.A. gym, when they defeated the Chinese Students 30 to 19 in the intermediate division. The preliminary tussle saw the junior Chinese Students beat the Y.M.C.A. cagers 36 to 30 after a close match throughout.

Kelly was high scorer for St. Louis College with fifteen points, while B. Martin was runner-up with nine. J. Lowe led the losers in scoring when he garnered an even dozen.

Notching up nearly half of his team's score R. Lowe set the pace for the junior Chinese Students. He got sixteen points and Pridham was high for the losers with fourteen.

Alan LeMarquand refereed.

Y.M.C.A.—Harris 2, Cullen, Mylrea 2, Finlayson 2, Smith 1, Gibson, Morrison 4, Lane 5, and Pridham 14.

St. Louis College—Kelly 15, Leonard 2, B. Martin 9, S. Martin, Perry 4, Hughes and Gillis.

Visitors Capture Badminton Crowns

Five Open Vancouver Island Championships Lifted By Out-of-town Players in Finals Saturday Night; Doug Grant and Miss D. Fernie Singles Champions

Finals of the Vancouver Island badminton championships at the Armories on Saturday evening saw the five open titles carried off by visiting stars. Victoria entrants took part in two of the finals but were unable to stand up under the brilliant play of the invaders. A good crowd was in attendance to see the new champions crowned.

The complete list of new open titleholders follows:

Women's singles—Miss D. Fernie, Kamloops.

Mixed doubles—Miss U. Norie and E. Leney, Duncan.

Honor of being the only champions to retain their title went to Miss Urica Norie and Eric Leney, Duncan, who lifted their sixth mixed doubles championship. This upisland pair displayed some brilliant play to defeat Miss Peggy MacDonald, Victoria, and M. Atkinson, Vancouver, in a straight set final, 15-8, 15-8. In a semi-final match Miss MacDonald and Atkinson eliminated the Victoria champions, Miss Joyce Thomson and Drenpan Hincks, Brentwood club, 15-9, 9-15, 15-7.

In winning the men's singles crown Grant, number one seeded player, disposed of his fellow townsman, Chuck Jones, in the final in straight sets, 15-6, 15-6. Grant, with youth in his favor, possessed far too much speed and variety of strokes for his opponent. The sharp smashes and accurate placements of the former Canadian champion just about tell the story.

The semi-finals of this event saw Grant defeat M. Atkinson, Vancouver, in straight sets, 15-10, 15-7, and Jones put out the last remaining Vancouver Island player in the person of Eric Leney, Duncan, 11-15, 15-11, 15-12. Leney put up a great fight and was in the running all the time only to fall victim to the cagey play of the Winnipeg entry.

WOMEN'S FINAL

After holding up like a veteran to reach the final Miss Joyce Thomson, young Brentwood star, fell away in the deciding match of the women's singles to be beaten by Miss Fernie in straight sets, 11-2, 11-0. Miss Thomson, recent winner of the Victoria championship, appeared extremely nervous and could do nothing against the cool, deliberate play of the interior player.

Grant shared in his second title when he partnered with Jones to win the men's doubles crown from M. Atkinson and J. Lacey, Vancouver youngsters, in straight sets, 15-11, 15-9. The Winnipeg duo proved a brilliant combination and their deadly stroking and co-ordination was far too much for the mainlanders. In the semi-finals earlier in the day Grant and Jones defeated the Victoria champions, G. Lane and F. Tyrell, 15-4, 15-11, and Atkinson and Lacey eliminated Tony Pooley, Ashcroft, and E. Leney, Duncan, 15-4, 15-18, 15-10.

After experiencing plenty of competition in the first set the Misses Daphne and Mary Fernie won the women's doubles from Mrs. Barkhuff, Seattle, and Miss U. Norie, Duncan, 15-13, 15-7.

PRESENT PRIZES

Prizes were presented to the new champions by Brigadier D. C. MacDonald. Col. E. G. C. Chambers, president of the Victoria Garrison Badminton Club, sponsors of the tournament, thanked both the local and visiting players on their fine performances. Major Hunter and Hugo Rayment, officials in charge of the meet, were honored with special presents in appreciation of their efforts to make the championships an outstanding success.

Telegraph Sport Briefs

INTERIOR HOCKEY

Nelson, Feb. 3.—Kimberley Dynamiters and Trail Smoke-eaters played to a 2 to 2 tie at Trail Saturday night, the third successive tie game these two teams have played in the West Kootenay Commercial Hockey League.

ECKHARDT TAKES TROPHY

Durham, N.C., Feb. 3.—Oscar (Ox) Echardt, San Francisco Missions, of the Pacific Coast League, led all the "regular" hitters in minor league baseball during the 1935 season, it was announced to-day by the press bureau of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs. His average was .399.

As a result, Eckhardt will be able to take the Louisville Slugger Trophy, a full-sized sterling silver bat, to Florida when he reports to the Brooklyn Dodgers' camp for his third major league trial.

HORNER LOSES BET

Chicago, Feb. 3.—"Red" Horner, bad-man of the National Hockey League, tried to be well behaved while on the ice to win a bet, but he just failed. The fiery-thatched defenceman of Toronto Maple Leafs wagered with his coach, Dick Irvin, he could stay out of the penalty box for four games—he missed the mark by a single period.

He came to Chicago yesterday evening almost ready to collect as he played through the first two periods without a penalty. But his charmed spell broke and in the last session Horner was banished on two occasions to bring his penalty total to 127 minutes.

U.S. TEAM BEATEN

Dusseldorf, Germany, Feb. 3.—The United States Olympic hockey team took a 2 to 1 setback yesterday from the Saxe reinforced German team which it defeated Saturday. The Germans, reinforced by three Canadians resident here, played a much smoother and more effective game than they did Saturday night.

DISCOVERY WINS

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—Discovery, the 1935 champion of the United States turf, made his 1936 debut by winning the $5,000 added San Carlos Handicap at a mile and one-sixteenth Saturday. The big horse of the Alfred G. Vanderbilt stable started fifteen lengths behind his five rivals and finished in front by five lengths. Ariel Cross was second and Beefsteak third.

"DUTCH" GAINOR CLIMBS

Calgary, Feb. 3.—The steady climb of the Calgary veteran, Norman "Dutch" Gainor, was climaxed last week when the lanky centre took over second place in the Northwest Hockey League individual standings. His total of sixteen goals and nine assists left him fifteen points behind the leader, Clint Smith, Vancouver, who had 17-23—40.

CLAIMS WORLD RECORD

Moscow, Feb. 3. — The Russian, Leonid Meshov, claimed the new world record for the 200 metres breast stroke swim to-day. He negotiated the distance in 2 minutes 42 seconds flat, compared with the listed record of 2.42.6 set by J. Cartonnet, France, in 1933.

Big Seven in Major Hockey

Doc Romnes, Chicago Black Hawks, and Bill Thoms, Toronto Leafs, threatened Sweeney Schriner's hold on the National Hockey League scoring leadership to-day as they advanced to within a point of the New York Americans' star.

Thoms scored a goal and Romnes an assist over the week-end to bring their totals to twenty-four points, compared to the twenty-five held by Schriner, who went scoreless in the Americans' tilt with Boston.

Standings follow:

	G.	A.	Pts.
Schriner, Americans	10	15	25
Thoms, Toronto	12	12	24
Romnes, Chicago	8	16	24
Thompson, Chicago	13	10	23
Dilon, Rangers	13	10	23
Boucher, Rangers	9	14	23
Chapman, Americans	8	14	22

Kresges Dance To Be Held Tonight

Kresge's football and basketball clubs will hold a dance this evening in the C.C.F. Hall, Fort Street. Dancing will be from 9 to 1 o'clock. Al Price's orchestra will supply the music. Tombolas will be drawn and refreshments served.

Bays-Wanderers Rugby Champions

Defeat Garrison 8 to 3 to Capture Second Half Honors in Senior League; Fifth Brigade Whip Scottish 11 to 7; College and Fifth Intermediate Winners

Bays-Wanderers won second-half honors in the senior division of the Victoria Rugby Union on Saturday afternoon by defeating the second-place Garrison 8 to 3 at Macdonald Park. The defeat robbed the Tommies of any chance of catching the combined fifteen at the head of the circuit. In the second match at the park the Fifth Brigade trounced the Canadian Scottish 11 to 7.

The Bays-Wanderers will meet the Fifth, first-half champions, in a play-off for the championship.

Garrison, with everything to gain by a win, pushed deep into Bays-Wanderers' territory. The first scrum down took place on the latters' twenty-five-yard line, and Garrison pursued their initial offensive with a driving forward attack. Gathering the ball from the loose, the Bays-Wanderers effectively, for a time at least, spiked the soldiers' drive and swept into one of the several backfield runs which made the first half interesting. The blue and white men followed up, using their forwards to advantage to gain yards in Garrison territory. A dog pile on the Garrison goal line was the sequel to their forward attack, and the soldiers were in a tight spot for a moment.

FIRST SCORE

Co-ordinating perfectly on their second effective three-quarter dash, Bays-Wanderers made their first tally when Addison, wingman, flashed across the left end. Petticrew added the extra points with a perfect convert.

Garrison were up and coming in spite of their first set-back, but Buxton went out for a while with an ankle twist and the Bays-Wanderers forced again.

Bays-Wanderers let loose another scoring punch early in the second period with a forward attack. Garrison failed to clear and, blocking Loveless's kick, Briggs kicked ahead from the loose and Burns scored for the Bays-Wanderers when he fell on the ball.

Garrison fielded a better fifteen in the second half than they did in the first, relying mostly on their forward strength, but the Tommies attempted backfield runs and were swamped in short order. Handling well in spite of the greasy pitch, the Bays-Wanderers gave a commendable exhibition in the backfield. When the ball reached Addison in another run he was hit pretty hard and was off for the rest of the game.

The Tommies dribbled right on to the Bays-Wanderers' goal line. Each of three scrums in that position resulted in a dog pile, and after the third one Martin was found underneath touching the ball down over the line for the Garrisons' only score.

SECOND MATCH

About the middle of the first half, Speed scored for the Scottish with a neat field drop from twenty-five yards out in their match with the Fifth. Clicking in the backfield, Fifth Brigade evened up when Copeland, on the right wing, went over for the Gunners' first try.

Scottish were leading 4 to 3 in the second half, till Paul Rowe breezed through the Scottish defence for the Fifth Brigade's second try, to make the score 8 to 4.

The Highlanders retaliated and Speed scored again for the Scottish on a try which Appleton failed to convert. The last score of the game was made by Simpson, who went over on the left wing.

Bays-Wanderers — Ellis, Turgoose, McConnan, Symons, Addison, Brown, Burgess, J. Osman, Petticrew, Drummond, Tobin, A. Briggs, F. Briggs, Usher and Burns.

Garrison—Loveless, Buxton, Shone, Sugden, Snow, Watson, Martin, Hall, Rawton, Hatch, Lee, Anderton, Eastick and Featherstone.

INTERMEDIATES

In the intermediate division Fifth Brigade and Victoria College came out on top on Saturday's card, the former soundly whipping the Canadian Scottish 40 to 0 at Work Point Barracks, and the students downing Wanderers Blue 9 to 0 on the High School turf.

Their decisive win over the kilties puts the gunners in line for a crack at Wanderers Whites and if successful they will play the Whites once more to decide who goes to Vancouver to battle the mainland winners in the intermediate division.

In first fifteen minutes of the College-Blues match play was pretty even with the students gradually warming up their threes which started into action toward the middle of the half. Fraser Shepherd tallied on a forward attack for College and Branson followed up with the second score for the students after Price had made the opening. Shepherd's kick was low. A penalty kick in the second half gave College the final three points.

Fifth Brigade were all over the Scottish in their game at Work Point, scoring seven tries in the first period. The Gunners led at the interval 25 to 0 as a result of two tries apiece by Noel and Smith and one each by C. Doheny, Miller and Ferguson. In the second half Ferguson came through with two tries and a drop goal, and Bridge and Gower scored to give the fifth their final points.

"Daisy" Waugh Out For Season

Nanaimo, Feb. 3.—Prospects of the Nanaimo City soccer team, Dominion Football Association cup finalists last year, were considerably dimmer to day as "Daisy" Waugh, their star centre-forward, lay in the hospital with a badly crushed knee which it is expected will keep him out of the game for at least the remainder of this year.

Waugh was injured Saturday while at work underground in the Protection mine where is was employed. Protection mine where he was employed in the Intercity League.

SUNDAY SCHOOL FOOTBALL GAMES

Centennials did well to score three goals against the improving Lake Hill team Saturday morning at Central Park in a Sunday School Soccer League game. Kitching scored half his team's total of six goals and Barr (2) and Jessamin got Centennials' markers. Lake Hill won by 6 to 3. P. J. Woodley refereed.

In the afternoon game Emmanuels created a surprise by defeating Metropolitans. The latter's defence could not hold Emmanuels' fast shooting forwards, who ran in seven goals. Metropolitans replied with two goals.

Thorburn (2), Watson (2), Anstey, Atkinson and Minnis netted for Emmanuels, while the Fuller brothers scored one each for the losers. Bill Houston refereed.

ESQUIMALT IN FOOTBALL WIN

Defeat Victoria City 3 to 1 to Increase Lead in First Division

Saturday's matches in the first division of the Victoria and District Football League saw the league-leading Esquimalt eleven bolster its margin at the top of the heap by defeating Victoria City 3 to 1 at the Athletic Park. In the second match at Heywood Avenue the second-place Victoria West and Saanich Thistles fought to a 1 to 1 deadlock.

Victoria City pressed from the whistle, but Esquimalt cleared. Both teams were playing one man short, but Gibbons, City full-back, came on the field after Richard almost scored with a hard drive for the blues. McBay, Esquimalt right half, did not turn up at all.

On a corner from George Payne for the City, the ball bounced off Pearce's chest just past the posts. De Costa defended brilliantly on a stiff attack by the City forwards.

Esquimalt took up the attack and worked three corners, but the City backs were on their toes.

ESQUIMALT SCORES

Two minutes before half time, Eddie De Costa, 'teen-age centre-forward for the Esquimalt team, picked up a pass, beat two players and scored.

The City pressed at the start of the second half, and a cardinal tide saw Jack Payne take brother George's pass and drive for the corner to tie the score.

Esquimalt retaliated quickly, and the young, cool-headed De Costa scored one of the best goals seen this season. Barnswell passed high and the centre-forward kicked the ball over his head into the net.

The blues continued to press. Worswick kicked over the cross-bar, and Gibbons saved what looked like a sure one. Edwards was hurt and Esquimalt had only nine men for a while, but the City could not break through.

Victoria City—Rowe, Halkett, Gibbons, Moore, Pearce, Robbins, Bennett, Price, Peers, Jack Payne, George Payne and Smith.

WESTS-THISTLES

Play opened in the Wests-Thistles match with each team boasting ten players. In the early minutes the Wests took the ball well into their opponents' territory, Gordie Bell shooting at goal from the wing, with no success.

A few minutes after the opening of play, Essler came on the field for the Thistles, and immediately had a long shot at the Wests' goal, striking the net on the outside. In doing so he gave the signal for a steady onslaught by the Thistles, with Glancy twice shooting and missing.

After the goal, the game settled down, with occasional movements by either team punctuating a steady ding-dong battle in the centre of the field. Watt got the ball well into Thistles' territory and passed to Gordie Bell, who missed. The shot was followed by a few minutes during which the Thistles' goal was hard pressed, but nothing came of it, with Chalmers, Harper and Stofer making a strong defence.

Towards the end of the first half, the Thistles had play well established in Wests' territory.

SECOND HALF

The second half got under way with the field in a very slippery state.

Bobbie Bell came on to replace Thoburn at outside-left for the Wests, and a few minutes into the half Leggatt and Crowe took over from Williams and Essler for Thistles.

Gordie Bell had a long shot at Thistles' goal after five minutes of the second half, but without result. At the ten-minute mark, Thistles were in West territory, but after that the play settled down with the greater part of the initiative being shown by Wests.

With their backs taking good care of the defence, Wests kept the Thistles' goal well pressed for the greater part of the half, the Bell brothers, Wilkinson and Morgan shooting, but never finding their mark, in spite of open goal mouths on several occasions.

Two minutes before the end of play, Bobbie Bell sent a neat corner in to Wilkinson, who lifted the ball, and Watt headed it neatly into the net, closing the game with a tie.

The teams follow:

Wests—Restell, Reside, Baird, Lorandini, Barnes, Thompson, Gordie Bell, Wilkinson, Watt, Morgan, Thoburn and Bobbie Bell.

JUVENILE SOCCER

Pushing across all their four markers in the first half and holding their opponents to one in the first session and two in the second, Wimpy's Capitals nosed out Hill's Corner 4 to 3 Saturday morning at Heywood Avenue Park after a closely-contested juvenile soccer fixture.

Continuing to show better form Esquimalt Meat Market downed the Victoria West Cubs 4 to 2 at Central Park.

Copenhagen, Feb. 3.—A fifteen-year-old girl, Ragnhild Hveger, swam the 440 yards in 5.29.9 today, eclipsing Lenore Knight's listed world record by one-tenth of a second.

John Ross Roach Is Badly Gassed

Toronto, Feb., 3.—John Ross Roach, formerly a star goal minder with Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, was recovering today from the effects of being overcome by gas in his home on Appleton Avenue here.

He was found in the downstairs of his home with gas issuing from a stove oven. Apparently Roach went to bed leaving the gas oven burning. Sometime during the night the flame becam extinguished and the ex-goalie went downstairs to investigate and was overcome by the gas. He was revived with difficuutly.

DOMINOES IN ANOTHER WIN

Victoria's Basketball Champions Turn Back Edmonds 36 to 29

With both teams keeping rigid defences throughout the encounter, which accounted for the low scores, Victoria Dominoes, present holders of the Canadian basketball championship, added another victory to their ever increasing string, when they defeated the invading Edmonds Athletic Club, from near Seattle, 36 to 29, Saturday evening at the High School gym.

Battling in the second game of a two-game total-point play-off series, Island Tug Red Stacks downed Trade-Ats 28 to 21, and won the series by fourteen points, and thus advanced to meet Kingham-Gillespie for the intermediate A championship.

At the opening of the feature tussle the visitors went on to the offensive and made several unsuccessful bids at the hoop with long shots. Baskets by Art and Chuck Chapman soon after gave the locals a four-point lead, and resulted in Edmonds calling time out. As play began again, two fine long shots by Russ Young brought the teams into a 4 to 4 deadlock. Young at the six-minute mark got in another long shot, but this was followed up by Red Martin, who tallied also, and again evened the score. Before the first quarter, however, Young dropped in two baskets and gave his team a 10 to 6 lead, at the gong.

DOMINOES TAKE LEAD

The feature in this quarter play was the fine scoring of Russ Young who secured the whole of his team's ten points. Strong defences were seen on both sides, and some good checking witnessed Teams went into another tie after four minutes of the second quarter play, the score being 11 to 11. Doug Peden tallied soon after, during a melee under the basket and gave the Dominoes a lead which they barely held throughout the fixture. Keeping up the pressure the Dominoes held their opponents pretty well intact, and at half-time were leading 22 to 16.

Andrews and Martin were replaced by Mottishaw and Goldsmith at the start of the second half play.

Art Chapman opened the second half scoring right after the toss-up, but a basket each by Hugh and John Anderson brought the visitors within four points of the Dominoes. The teams fought fairly even for a while and registered basket for basket, but the Edmonds team did get within two points of the Dominoes when Harold Nelson scored on a long shot with eight minutes to go. The score stood at 29 to 27.

At this point Martin and Andrews went out on the floor again and with Martin shooting in fine form the Dominoes soon left the visitors behind. Dominoes got seven points during the last seven minutes of play and Edmonds two.

Dominoes—Martin 14, Andrews 1, Goldsmith 2, A. Chapman 7, Peden 6, C. Chapman 6, Mottishaw, Kinnear. Total 36.

Edmonds Athletic Club—H. Anderson 2, Dick Young, Wiester, J. Anderson 5, Nelson 8, Russell, Young 14, Fox, Wasser. Total 29.

Trade-Ats—Newman 3, Price 2, D. Gent 4, K. Gent 12, Featherstone, Reid, Smart. Total 21.

Good fixtures are carded for Wednesday evening at the gym. Island Tug Red Stacks will meet Kingham-Gillespie in the first match of a two-game total-point play-off series for the intermediate A championship, while West Saanich Mercantiles will oppose Hoyle-Brown in the last match of the senior B play-offs for the championship. Hoyle-Brown won the first fixture, 42 to 37.

HUNTER LEADS GOLF WINNERS

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—Willie Hunter, Culver City, and Jimmy Hines, Long Island, New York, were the leading money winners in California's 1935-1936 winter golf campaign.

The veteran Hunter, finishing in the money in three of the eight tournaments staged, banked a total of $3,308.34. He won the San Francisco open title and $1,675, and five days later, last Saturday, captured $1,500 first prize in the Santa Catalina Island open. He took $233.34 second place money in the southern California open at Glendale.

Hines, comparative newcomer to big money success out here, likewise won his the quick way, capturing the Riverside open and $750 one week, and the Los Angeles open $1,500 first prize the next. He took $50 in the Pasedena open.

DR. NAISMITH TO BE HONORED

U.S. Cage Teams to Raise Olympic Trip Fund For Originator of Game

New York, Feb. 3.—Basketball teams throughout the United States will pay tribute, starting Friday, to Dr. James A. Naismith, the Canadian originator in 1891 of a game that is now played world-wide by an estimated 18,000,000 each year.

The period of Feb. 7-15 has been designated as national Naismith week by the National Association of Basketball Coaches and a fund will be raised to send Dr. and Mrs. Naismith to the Olympic Games in Germany, as well as to establish an annuity in their behalf if possible.

While a member of the staff of the Y.M.C.A. College at Springfield, Mass., in 1891, Dr. Naismith was asked by Dr. Luther Gulick, the physical training department head, to develop something to employ the abounding energy of prospective Y.M.C.A. secretaries, for whom the ordinary exercises with dumbbells and Indian clubs were too tame between the football and baseball campaigns. Basketball was the ultimate result.

His boyhood game of "duck the rock" gave Dr. Naismith, who was born in Almonte, Ont., the inspiration. He recalled the comparative value of the tossed rock that was fairly apt to hit the "duck" and the hurled rock that, if it did hit, sent the "duck" further. Dr. Naismith concluded that the tossed missle was the better and so established that as one of the principles of his new game.

To guard against injuries while a man was running with the ball, Dr. Naismith decided it would be wise for the holder to get rid of it and thus the pass created. Old peach baskets served as cages for the soccer ball which was first used.

The placing of the players as forwards and guards was suggested by lacrosse, with which Dr. Naismith was familiar. Until 1908 he coached the sport at the University of Kansas, where he had been a member of the physical education staff for the last thirty-five years.

He is a graduate of McGill University.

FIVE PERISH IN FARM HOUSE FIRE

Canadian Press

Lemberg, Sask., Feb. 3.—Five persons were burned to death in an early morning fire which destroyed the home of J. Jost, a mile and a half northwest of here today.

Jost and his four children were the victims. One girl escaped from a window and ran half a mile in 30 below zero weather in scanty nightclothes to a neighboring farm house. Her legs were badly frozen.

ROOSEVELT ASKS REPEAL OF ACTS

Associated Press

Washington, Feb. 3.—President Roosevelt proposed to Congress today "prompt repeal" of the Bankhead compulsory cotton control act, the Kerr-Smith tobacco act, and the potato act of 1935.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Relief loans of $6,837 to Fernie, $1,950 to Merritt and $13,500 to Burnaby, were approved today by the provincial government.

Ross Pendleton, plant manager of the Industrial Timber Mills Limited at Youbou, is in Victoria to-day on business. He is at the Empress Hotel.

There will be a meeting of the Saanich Ward 2 non-political ratepayers' association on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Cloverdale school.

The Victoria Club for the Hard-of-Hearing will hold its weekly meeting on Wednesday evening, February 5, at the Women's Institute, 635 Fort Street, at 8 o'clock.

Formal proclamation allowing sale of beer by the glass in Creston polling division of Nelson-Creston riding was issued by the government today. Creston voted in favor of beer on December 20.

Isaac Hewett was fined $10, with an option of five days' imprisonment, when he was convicted in the City Police Court this morning on a charge of using abusive language to Charles Hayes, 704 Johnson Street.

The price of beer at Quesnel and Prince George was cut from $2.05 to $2.00 a dozen pints and from $27.10 to $25.00 a barrel to licensees by government order today. This is effected by adjustment of freight charges.

Ward Five Liberal Association will hold its regular meeting at 7.30 on Wednesday night instead of 8 o'clock. Following the business meeting, cards will be played and refreshments served.

William A. Mather, general manager, C.P.R. western lines, Winnipeg, left here this morning on a tour of inspection up the island, accompanied by J. A. Kennedy, general superintendent, Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway.

The time limit for taking votes on the union library scheme in rural school districts was extended by the government today until February 29. It was explained that in some districts it had not been possible to get the votes completed during January.

The Quadra Parent-Teacher Association will hold a military five hundred card game tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, in the Quadra School annex, under the convenership of Mrs. Miles. Refreshments will be served and Louis Schmelz will act as master of ceremonies.

A meeting of the executive of the Victoria Day Celebration Committee will be held on Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce, according to notification received at the City Hall today. The committee will make an early start on plans for the May 24 holiday.

A petition from eight residents of the west side of Wilmer Street for a gravel sidewalk to replace the present wooden walk will be considered by the City Council this evening. The petition complains of the dangerous condition of the wooden structure.

Fire losses in Victoria last month were far below those for January last year. The C.P.S. mill made a high figure in January of last year. The losses this month were only $275, as compared with $63,746.41 for January, 1935. The mill loss was estimated at $63,447.60, leaving a balance of $298.81 to compare with this year. The department responded to twenty-seven alarms.

Sussex folk of Victoria will gather for an evening of cards and checkers at Cranleigh House School, Cadboro Bay Road, next Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock. All members of the fellowship and their friends are cordially invited to attend. B. J. Smith is in charge of the checkers tournament, and C. V. Milton, the secretary, will gladly give full particulars of the evening.

Provincial government appointments announced today were: Walter D. Vance of Prince Rupert to serve as police magistrate there during the illness of Thomas McClymont; Patricia McDonald to be a stenographer in the companies office; Alexander Chisholm and C. L. Gibson to be rangers in the Prince Rupert office of the forest branch, and E. M. Selkir, bursar at Tranquille Sanatorium to be a notary public.

Norman Nelson, 3735 Douglas Street, Canadian National Railways bridgeman, has applied to the courts here for naturalization as a Canadian. He was born in Bergen, Norway, came to Canada through North Portal, Sask., in September, 1912, and has been a resident of Victoria for the last fifteen years. He has been set down to appear for public hearing on his application before Judge Lampman on May 4.

The following donations were received by W. H. Davies, local treasurer Save the Children Fund for the month of January 1936: Mrs. Crawley $1, A Friend 10 cents, Thank offering from a grateful heart $100, A Friend $3, Miss Booth $1, Miss Craifer $1, Miss C. Macklem $2, W. D. $1, total $109.50. Further donations will be gratefully acknowledged by Mr. Davies, Empire Realty Co. Ltd., 1008 Broad Street.

RADIO SERIES START TONIGHT

First of Programme on "Know Your Island" Over CFCT

The first of a series of nine broadcasts on "Know Your Island," to be conducted by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be given this evening over station CFCT, from 7 to 7.30 o'clock.

The speakers on this evening's programme will be Mayor David Leeming, Leslie Osborne, president, and Vernon Ridgway, chairman of the radio committee. The topic will be Victoria and vicinity.

The broadcasts will be held each Monday evening, from 7 to 7.30 o'clock, starting this evening and finishing Monday, March 30. These programmes are being conducted to teach residents more about their own island.

February 17—Duncan and Cowichan Lake.

The City Council has undertaken the financing of the programmes and the management of CFCT has donated the radio for the half hour.

FAST RECOVERY OF STOLEN CARS

City police on Saturday evening did some speedy work in recovering two stolen cars. One was located three-quarters of an hour after it was stolen and the other about four and a half hours later.

S. L. Wilson, 610 Michigan Street reported at 6.35 o'clock Saturday evening that his car had been stolen from outside his home. At 7.15 o'clock Sergeant S. Wilkinson reported he had located it at Chandler and St. Charles Streets.

Robert Comerford, 1253 Esquimalt Road, reported his car was stolen from the Armories between 8 and 10.30 o'clock. At 1.30 o'clock Sunday morning Constable Joe Addison found it at Cook and Haultain Streets. Neither of the cars was damaged.

MURDER TRIAL IN TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Outwardly unmoved, Harry O'Donnell listened from the prisoners' dock in the winter assize court here today as the Crown presented its case charging the twenty-five-year-old filling station employee with the murder of Ruth Taylor. The body of the pretty twenty-year-old stenographer was found in a ravine off Gerrard Street east last November 5.

London, Feb. 3.—The government's defence reorganization plan, involving expenditure of $1,500,000,000, will be presented to the cabinet within a few days, according to The London Sunday Chronicle.

Completion of the programme will require six years, and two-thirds of the predicted appropriation of £300,000,000 will be reserved for the navy, The Chronicle predicted.

The plan, it continued, will include construction of eleven ships of the line and thirty-six cruisers, as well as an annual output of eighteen destroyers.

MOUNT SEYMOUR PARK CREATED

Containing 677 acres, the area will be known as Mount Seymour Park.

The official order also appoints a board of three in charge of the park. They are W. E. Martin, Roy Howard and H. G. Abbot, all of Vancouver.

BIRTHS TOTAL OVER 10,000

Increase Shown in B.C. Last Year; Marriages Up By 240

Mothers of British Columbia brought 10,232 children into the world last year, according to registration figures at the vital statistics branch of the Provincial Department of Health.

This was an increase of 258 from the birth total of the previous year, 9,974, and means that there was one baby born every fifty-two minutes during the year.

Strangely, September replaced June as the most popular month for weddings. There were 516 unions in September, compared with 475 in June, 497 in July and 494 in October. The fall season was the most popular time of the year for marrying.

In 1934 the most marriages were recorded in June.

Deaths during the year numbered 6,404, as compared with 5,798 in 1934. In the summer months of June, July, August and September, the death total is much lower than the other months of the year.

Urges Victoria Aid Vancouver

Frank C. Anders Tells Gyros Crowds Will Come on Here From Jubilee

An appeal to Victoria to cooperate for its own advantage in the Vancouver Jubilee celebrations this summer was made today by Frank C. Anders, master of ceremonies of the Home Gas Optimists, who with three other members of the company attended the Gyro Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

Vancouver, he said, was expecting people from all parts of the world to flock there for the jubilee celebrations, which were to be held on an enormous scale. At least 90 per cent of these people would come to Victoria.

The plans for the jubilee were still more or less in the embryo, and the question of financing the celebration was not yet decided. Mayor G. G. McGeer was at present in Ottawa seeking a grant from the Dominion Government out of tourist publicity money.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

Vancouver, he said, badly needed some affair such as the jubilee to stimulate its community spirit. So far this spirit had been practically non-existent in the terminal city, and it could learn much from Victoria, New Westminster, and the United States Pacific slope cities in that direction. He believed the jubilee would give the necessary boost to the city's community feeling.

Mr. Anders gave details of some of the features tentatively planned for the celebrations. They included sports events of all sorts, music, pageants, a special performance of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" in Stanley Park, a performance of "Hiawatha," an Indian village, a Hawaiian village, and special decorations and illumination all over Vancouver.

Mr. Anders referred to the work of the original committee, whose duties had been later taken over by Mayor McGeer and the City Council and subdivided among thirty active subcommittees. Without any expenditure they had obtained publicity all over the world, including a half-page feature in The London Times, and matter in thirty-two English and several hundred United States papers.

Following Mr. Anders's address, the club was entertained with two piano selections by Jack Emerson, two songs by Ernest J. Colton, baritone, and three humorous recitations by Eric Vail, the latest addition to the Optimists.

The Optimists were introduced by Gyro Thomas McPherson.

W. Howard Leggatt and Sidney B. Markham were introduced to the club as new members by W. C. Hudson, lieutenant-governor of District 4.

FIVE APPEAR FOR CITIZENSHIP

Five persons appeared before Judge Lampman today for public hearing on their applications for naturalization as Canadians. They were:

Alexander William Frederick, sponsored by Alfred Crump and J. S. Bastian.

Quebec, Feb. 3—Rev. Arthur Gouin, eighty-one, retired parish priest and brother of the late Sir Lomer Gouin, former Lieutenant-Governor and Premier of Quebec, died yesterday.

Obituary

GERALD JOSEPH PALMER

Relatives and many friends Saturday attended the funeral of Gerald Joseph Palmer, who passed away January 29. Rev. T. G. Griffiths conducted the service, during which Mrs. S. M. Morton rendered the solo, "Some Day We'll Understand." The congregational hymns were "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The many beautiful flowers betokened the high esteem held for the deceased. The following acted as pallbearers: G. Brown, T. Liddell, W. Wilkie, D. M. McAuley, N. McConnell and J. D. Davidson. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

ADELLA FLORENCE PETTERSON

Funeral services for Adella Florence Petterson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Petterson, 2732 Blackwood Street, who passed away Saturday at St. Joseph's Hospital, will be held from the Sands Mortuary chapel tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. E. F. Church will officiate and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

WILLIAM STEVENS

William Stevens of 1513 Bank Street passed away this morning, aged seventy. Mr. Stevens was born in Cornwall, England, and had been a resident of this city for twenty-five years. He is survived by two brothers in England and two brothers in the United States. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Brothers Funeral Home. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

SARAH AMY WEBB

The death occurred on Saturday in St. Joseph's Hospital of Mrs. Sarah Amy Webb, aged sixty-seven years, of 15 Cambridge Street. She was born in Barrie Ont., and had been a resident of Victoria for more than thirty years. She is survived by two sons, George Herbert Brooke and Charles W. Brooke; one sister, Mrs. B. M. McCullouch, and one brother, Nelson Ford, all of this city. The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home, where funeral services will take place at 2.30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

HARRY CAMERON

Harry Cameron, pioneer business man of Winnipeg, who lived between Victoria and Winnipeg for the last twelve years, passed away in the Manitoba city on January 20, according to word received here today.

Mr. Cameron was born in Scotland in 1851, and three years later came with his parents to Canada, reaching Winnipeg in 1863. For many years he was manager of the Winnipeg Street Railway Company, and during the Greenway government was a member of the Manitoba board of liquor license commissioners.

In his younger days he was a noted cricketer, playing on the Manitoba team which toured Canada and the United States in 1890. He was a member of the Colwood and Uplands golf clubs, and was a regular attendant at the First United Church during his residence here over the last ten years.

Mr. Cameron is survived by two brothers, Duncan in Winnipeg and John A. Cameron, Victoria, who is at present in California.

Sixty Tons Of Produce Moved

Wholesalers Have Busy Day; Spinach and Turnips Advance

Wholesalers had another busy day today, moving sixty tons of produce from the docks to their storage rooms.

The shipments were mainly from California and included:

* * *

* * *

The lettuce prices continue low though the next change is expected to be upward.

* * *

* * *

* * *

GIVES SERMON ON NEW KING

Rev. E. F. Church Preaches to Britannia Branch of Legion

The Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion gathered in the Metropolitan Church yesterday to hear a sermon on King Edward VIII preached by the Rev. E. F. Church, former padre.

Over 150 veterans formed in parade outside the Legion headquarters on View Street and marched to the church.

"A certain uplift and happiness is felt all over the world," said Mr. Church in speaking of the new King. "Good as his father was and wise in his judgments, we expect even greater things from him.

"We believe he will improve the living conditions of the poor. We believe he will draw the whole empire closer together, he will allay old suspicions, old feuds, and that he will bring in a greater social happiness."

The pastor told how they had come to know him during the war and how many cherished little incidents of a personal nature which had happened to make them love him all the more.

In conclusion, Mr. Church drew a spiritual analogy from the oath of allegiance to the new King. Christ asked for a new allegiance, and now was the time to reform and keep his commandments.

Lengthy Sentence Brings Appeal

The justices of the Court of Appeal under acting Chief Justice Martin at noon today reserved judgment on the appeal of James Everett Ball, against the sentence of twenty years imposed upon him by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald on his conviction on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the shooting of Mike Harmes in northern Cariboo.

J. R. Nicholson, counsel for Ball, appealed against the sentence on three grounds: One, extreme provocation, due to the admission of his wife of misconduct with Harmas; two, no previous criminal record against Ball, and three, the strong recommendation for mercy returned by the jury.

Col. Eric Pepler, of the Attorney-General's department, opposed the reduction of the sentence. The court was pointed to the evidence of how Mr. Ball when he returned and found his wife had been unfaithful, bought a 22-rifle in Cranbrook, went out after Harmas and shot him at a distance of forty feet as he was running away. The evidence continued to the effect that after Mr. Ball did the shooting he was in a frenzy and dazed, and the word went throughout the district that he had run amuck. No one would touch the body of Harmas, which lay where he had been shot, as it was feared Mr. Ball in his condition would shoot again. Finally, after a few hours, Mr. Ball had cooled down, called the police and gave himself up.

Pharmacy Board Named For Year

Two are from Victoria, John Cochrane and Bernard Gough, and two from the mainland, Lewis H. Nelson of North Vancouver and John Davidson, associate professor at U.B.C.

Stewart Honored On Retirement

Nanaimo, Feb. 3.—A presentation was made Saturday evening at the Mine Rescue Station to J. D. Stewart, who for the last twenty-four years has acted in the capacity of instructor. The token was a traveling bag and the presentation was made by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines and Labor.

Those contributing to the presentation were members of the staff of the mines department from Nanaimo, Cumberland, Princeton, Lillooet and Prince Rupert, and also the instructors of the mine rescue stations at Nanaimo, Cumberland and Princeton.

In making the presentation Mr. Pearson paid tribute to Mr. Stewart, complimenting him upon his years of faithful service in the interests of mine rescue work.

As leap year dances are at present in vogue, the old time and modern dances to be held in the Shrine Temple will follow that trend. The time is February 28, and the music will be supplied by the Cariboo Cowboys. ***

DIED

DEMPSTER—At the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Friday afternoon, William Hattrick Dempster, aged ninety-six years, of 1823 Chestnut Avenue. The late Mr. Dempster was born in New Brunswick and had been a resident of this city for the last fifty years. He was an elder of First United Church, formerly First Presbyterian Church, for many years. He is mourned by a niece, Mrs. Isabel Morrison, of 1823 Chestnut Avenue; a niece in Abbotsford and two nephews in Vancouver, B.C. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon from McCall Bros.' Funeral Home, at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery. (Friends are requested to kindly omit flowers.)

PETTERSON—There passed away in the St. Joseph's Hospital, on Saturday, February 1, 1936, Adella Florence Petterson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Petterson, 2732 Blackwood Street. She is survived by, besides her sorrowing parents, two sisters, Gloria Mays and Dilys Loraine; one brother, Walter James, all at home; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Keatings, Victoria, and Mrs. E. Petterson, Coghlan, B.C.; two aunts, Mrs. W. Holland, Victoria; Mrs. D. Jones, Coghlan, B.C. The remains are resting at the chapel of the Sands Mortuary Ltd., from where funeral services will be held on Tuesday, February 4, 1936, at 2 o'clock. Rev. E. P. Church will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

STEVENS—On Monday morning, February 3, in this city, William Stevens, aged seventy years, of 1513 Bank Street. The late Mr. Stevens was born in Cornwall, England, and had been a resident of this city for the last twenty-five years. He is survived by two brothers in England and two brothers in U.S.A. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon from McCall Bros.' Funeral Home at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

WEBB—Passed away on February 1, at the St. Joseph's Hospital, Mrs. Sarah Amy Webb, aged sixty-seven years; a native of Barrie, Ont., and a resident of Victoria for more than thirty years; late residence, 15 Cambridge Street. She leaves to mourn her loss two sons, George Herbert Brooke and Charles W. Brooke; one sister, Mrs. B. M. McCulloch, and one brother, Mr. Nelson Ford, all of Victoria. The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home, from where the funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

DONALD—At St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, B.C., on Sunday, February 2, 1936, David Donald, M.D. (Lieut.-Col., R.C.A.M.C., retd.), eldest son of the late Charles and Jessie Middleton Donald, Aberdeen, Scotland, in his seventieth year.

FINE CAST AT THE DOMINION

F. Morgan and Cicely Courtneidge Will Take Lead in "Perfect Gentleman"

"The Perfect Gentleman" will open at the Dominion Theatre to-morrow. Co-starring Frank Morgan and Cicely Courtneidge, who represent the funniest entertainers on two continents, the film is a gale of laughter from the opening scene to the last.

Frank Morgan, of course, is that irrepressible old wag of "Naughty Marietta," "Affairs of Cellini" and other films. The same halting lines and hilarious confusion are evident in his role of a down-at-heel old army major who becomes a theatrical favorite.

Heather Angel and Richard Waring play the romantic leading roles as the major's son and his fiancee. Prominently cast are Stephenson, Una O'Connor, Herbert Mundin, Forrester Harvey, Mary Forbes, Doris Lloyd, and Edward Cooper.

Also being shown in the second feature are Aline MacMahon and Basil Rathbone in "Kind Lady."

Carminati At The Columbia

Warner Bros. could not reproduce the great Golden Gate Bridge, now being built and which is the background of important action in "Stranded," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, although the company did reproduce sections of it.

The Golden Gate Bridge has a suspension span nearly three times as long as that of Brooklyn Bridge. It is supported by towers so huge that it requires 450 freight cars to haul the steel for one tower. While the bridge proper is 6,450 feet long, the total length, including the approaches is seven miles.

Also being shown in second feature are Lillian Harvey and Tullio Carminati in "Let's Live Tonight."

DORATY STAR IN CLEVELAND WIN

Two and a half games out of first place in the International League's western group, the Falcons blanked Windsor Bull Dogs 2 to 0 Saturday night in Cleveland, and Doraty scored both goals. The former Toronto Maple Leaf pinch-hitter ran his season's goal total to eighteen.

Olympics held their margin by winning 1 to 0 over Rochester Cardinals yesterday evening in Detroit while the tail-end Cards won 3 to 1 over London Tecumsehs.

Buffalo Bisons and Syracuse Stars staged a home-and-home series over the week-end. Bisons won at home, 2 to 0, Saturday night and the Stars snatched a 6 to 5 decision in Syracuse yesterday evening.

SINGERS PLEASED KING AND QUEEN

Sir Walford Davies, Master of the King's Music, and one of the leading figures in the world of English music, paid a wonderful tribute recently to the Romilly Boys' Choir, of Barry, South Wales. In thanking the choir on the occasion of its appearance at a command performance for the late King George and Queen Mary, Sir Walford wrote in a letter to the conductor, M. W. Williams: "I want to convey to the choir the gratitude we all feel for their splendid work. The King and Queen were touched and greatly pleased by the singing."

The Romilly Boy Singers, now on a tour of Canada and the United States, will appear at the Empire Theatre next Saturday in matinee and evening performances.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor play the starring roles in this absorbing photoplay, a lavishly produced story directed by John M. Stahl. Its poignant drama begins in New York City and later moves to Paris, finally reaching its climax in Virginia.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

In "She," now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre, Randolph Scott and Helen Mack are cast as two sides of one of the strangest triangles ever presented in fiction or on the screen.

This film, which is based on the fantastic novel by H. Rider Haggard, is laid in the mythical kingdom of Kor, ruled by a queen who has discovered the secret of immortality.

Miss Mack plays the mortal girl. Helen Gahagan is the third side of the triangle, making her screen debut starred in the title role of this RKO Radio picture. Irving Pichel and L. C. Holden directed "She," as a Merian C. Cooper production.

New Tops Recorded In Today's Upturn On Wall Street List

Associated Press

New York, Feb. 3.—Steels, motors and specialties rallied in to-day's stock market. A number of new highs for the last several years were recorded. Gains of fractions to a point or more were in the majority.

The late tone was firm. Transfers approximated 2,250,000 shares.

The list marked time during the morning while waiting for the Supreme Court to reconvene. The utilities pointed lower, but steadied when no TVA decision was forthcoming.

The steel group came to life as the American Iron and Steel Institute estimated current mill operations were slightly ahead of last week's rate.

American woolen stocks did not respond to the action of the company's directors in voting a resumption of dividends on the preferred. There are still heavy accumulations on this issue.

Cotton recovered moderately while grains declined. Bonds were mixed, with U.S. government securities easier. The dollar was soft in foreign exchange centres. Gold shipments abroad were being arranged for Wednesday as the French franc was above the point at which the yellow metal can be exported at a profit.

Among the livelier share gainers were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Case, National Cash Register, General Electric, Goodyear, Firestone, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Western Union, Douglas, United Aircraft and American Telephone. Westinghouse advanced 4. The rails were a bit better than even.

Twenty rails, 46.21; up 0.11.

Twenty utilities, 32.00; up 0.17.

MINES GAIN AT TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Steady buying sent prices forward on the mining board of the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Golds and base metals featured.

In secondary golds, Macassa and Beattie gained 20 cents, Sullivan 7 and Malartic 10. Senior golds held firm. Hargreaves added 30 cents at 8.50.

Firming with Falconbridge, Noranda, Ventures, Coast Copper and Sudbury moved up in late trading. Penny issues showed strength. Oils made headway.

SMELTERS UP TO NEW HIGH

Canadian Press

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Consolidated Smelters jumped 10 points to a new high for a year or more of 235 on the crest of a buying wave during the final hour on Montreal Stock Exchange to-day.

New tops also were posted by Steel of Canada common and preferred, Electrolux, Bathurst Paper, Dominion Bridge, International Power preferred and National Breweries.

A few of the issues edged back slightly after reaching their new top levels but managed to hold substantial gains. Nickel and Hollinger slipped slightly and Noranda moved up a little. Banks were steady.

Wheat Prices Off In Dull Trading On Winnipeg Mart

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Feb. 3.—Wheat prices drifted lower in a dull session of the Winnipeg grain exchange today, and at the close were off ⅞ to ⅝ cent. The May future was at 86¼, July 87 and October 85⅝ cents.

Scattered liquidation from outside sources was the only interest evinced by traders. Volume of transactions was the smallest in some time. No figure was placed on small export sales.

Weakness in outside markets was depressing. Liverpool was off ⅜ to ⅝d, while one-cent recessions were registered at Chicago. Buenos Aires was down fractionally.

Wheat—	Bid	Offer
May	99-2	99-7
July	88-3	88-6

Associated Press

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Late declines in wheat today carried the market down more than a cent a bushel.

Weakness of Kansas City and Winnipeg quotations had a bearish effect. Besides beneficial moisture aver the winter wheat zone, carlot arrivals at Kansas City were larger than a week and year ago.

Wheat closed weak, ⅜ to ¾ under Saturday's finish, May 99½ to 99⅝, corn unchanged to ⅛ lower, May 60⅜, oats also unchanged to ⅛ off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents down.

LONDON MARKET

London, Feb. 3.—A cheerful tone was registered on the stock exchange today. Fair business was transacted principally in oils, gold mining shares and industrials which were firmer. Gilt-edged securities were dull, while the continental political uncertainty checked activity in speculative stock. Transatlantic issues lost part of an early improvement. The market

Industrials Rule Stronger

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 3.—A stronger tone ruled in the afternoon on the Toronto industrial share market to-day.

Smelters, an afternoon feature, advanced 12 points to 237. Nickel recovered an early decline, C.P.R. sagged a fraction. Trading was slow.

Liquors held firm while oils dipped fractionally. B.C. Power A, Canada Cement and Silknit were other issues showing a minor loss. Banks were steady.

POUND STERLING BEST SINCE 1934

Canadian Press

New York, Feb. 3.—The pound sterling advanced more than 2 cents in the foreign exchange markets today to close at the highest level recorded since 1934.

The Canadian dollar followed the pound, and closed at a premium of 7-16 of 1 per cent against ¼ of 1 per cent on Saturday. The closing quotation for the pound was $5.03½, a gain of 2⅜ cents.

The French franc moved up .00½ to 6.69½, a level at which it would be profitable to ship gold from the United States to Paris. No actual shipments were reported, however.

LONDON METALS

BAR GOLD

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Bar gold in London up 3c at $35.23 an ounce in Canadian funds; 140s 11d in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $34.91 in Canadian.

London, Feb. 3.—Bar gold declined 1d to 140s 11d. (U.S. equivalent $35.27.)

C. & E. Oil Most Active of List On Vancouver Market

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 3.—Strength in C. and E. Oil featured trading in the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange today, price coming out for a jump of ten cents to close at 93.

Trading in this was the heaviest of the list, transactions getting up to better than 6,000 shares. The market as a whole was quieter and prices ended generally mixed.

Total board volume at the close of the early period stood at 70,000 shares. B.C. Nickel was fairly active, trading 5,500 shares to hold unchanged at 19.

Dentonia attracted considerable trading and advanced one cent at the close. One cent gains appeared in Big Missouri, and Mak Siccar. Relief Arlington was up two cents.

Bralorne was firmer in fairly active trading, price advancing five cents following reports the company's earnings for January were slightly higher.

Sheep Creek was weaker despite the fact that last month's production was the third best in the history of the company. Price declined two cents.

Island Mountain was down two cents, while Pioneer was down five cents. Fractional advances appeared in Wayside and Kootenay Belle. Cariboo and Minto were unchanged.

PREMIER'S TRIP TO BE DELAYED

King Will Go to Britain After Ottawa Session of Parliament

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—Persistent rumors Prime Minister King would visit England in the immediate or near future were set at rest today by his definite statement he would not leave Canada while Parliament was in session.

Parliament will meet Thursday and will probably sit until May or June, making it unlikely Mr. King will go to England before midsummer.

The Prime Minister has made no secret of his intention to confer with the United Kingdom government on trade matters as soon as it can conveniently be accomplished. He made the statement soon after taking office in October that only the incidence of a general election in Great Britain prevented his going to London before his treaty-making visit to Washington in November.

TRADE AGREEMENTS

Trade agreements negotiated at the Imperial Economic Conference in Ottawa in 1932 will be due for revision in 1937 and a further conference on their renewal will probably be held next summer or the summer following.

It is believed likely, however, that even if no conference is called this year Mr. King will go to London as soon as convenient after Parliament is prorogued.

Earl of Hardwicke Dies in England

Associated Press

Bournemouth, Eng., Feb. 3.—The Eighth Earl of Hardwicke, sixty-six, who once worked as a miner in the Montana gold fields, died Saturday.

Millinery Plant Workers Strike

Associated Press

New York, Feb. 3.—With 500 extra police stationed in the garment factory centre New York today waited for a strike of building service employees that did not materialize.

Not an elevator was halted and those employees in mid-town lofts who took the precaution of carrying lunches, fearing the "five-minute strike call" to 20,000 elevator operators in 1,200 buildings, picnicked during the lunch hour.

Millinery workers numbering 20,000 were called out to-day and a threat was made by David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, that 145,000 might be called out if a new agreement, to replace one which expired Saturday, was not negotiated.

ANGLING NOTES

Black River, north of Courtenay; fishing for steelhead good. Black River is one of the best rivers on the island for big trout fishing around about the first of March.

Kenya Protests To Ethiopia

Raids Across Border Into British Colony Made By Tribesmen

Canadan Press from Havas

Nairobi, Kenya Colony, Feb. 3.—Charges that Ethiopia had perpetrated a series of misdeeds along the northern frontier of Kenya Colony were made today in a report dispatched to the Ethiopian government at Addis Ababa.

The report, sent by the external affairs department of this British colony, made the following specific complaints:

1. Ras esta Demtu, Ethiopian war commander on the southern front, rewarded numerous tribesmen who led raids across the Kenya Colony border by promoting them in rank.

2. In defiance of repeated demands issued here, Ethiopian authorities refused to co-operate in terminating frontier disorders.

3. A British official who made an air flight along the ill-defined 250-mile border between Ethiopia and Kenya Colony found flagrant violation of a pledge made by the Addis Ababa Government that it would disarm its Gelabba frontier tribesmen.

CATTLE STOLEN

4. Ethiopian troops frequently have crossed into Kenya territory.

5. In the last year Ethiopian raiders have organized repeated forays across the border, stealing large quantities of livestock and other property.

SEVEN DIE IN FIRE AT CAMP

Twelve Injured in Blaze at Parker Dam on Colorado River

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—Seven workmen were burned to death today when fire destroyed a dormitory at the Parker Dam construction camp on the Colorado River.

Two others were seriously injured, and ten received minor burns, the Metropolitan Water District was informed.

All the bodies were taken from the wreckage, but identification has not been completed.

Ninety men were asleep in the dormitory in the isolated construction village when the blaze broke out. A high wind swept the flames through the structure, and carried the blaze to the mess hall and commissary, which were also destroyed.

Parker Dam is approximately 100 miles south of Boulder Dam. It is being built to divert a portion of the Colorado River to the $220,000,000 aqueduct being built by the Metropolitan Vater District to Los Angeles and nearby communities.

The fire broke out at 2.30 a.m., and in a few minutes the dormitory was in flames, the victims being trapped in their bunks.

Tarzan The Untamed

Tarzan, reeling under the terrific blow of the lion's paw, sank to the ground. It was then that Lieutenant Cecil and the girl leaped from the plane and sprang into the conflict. Fearlessly grabbing the ape-man's spear, the girl faced the lion, while Roger snatched the knife from Tarzan's limp hand.

Numa turned upon his new assailants. Nearly exhausted, he was now no match for them. . . . When Tarzan regained his senses he saw a lifeless lion lying torn and bleeding upon the sand and over him bent anxiously his friend, the British lieutenant, and the girl he knew as the Red Spy.

The ape-man looked up at them and smiling wryly said: "I had almost given up hope of finding you." "How did you know we were in trouble?" asked Roger. "I saw your plane fall. I heard your pistol shot. Is your ship beyond repair?" "Yes," replied the British officer. "It is hopeless."

"Then we must trust to luck. I am not badly hurt," said Tarzan, "and it is certain death for us to remain here." Removing the scant water and provisions from the plane, the three set off toward the south. And although he did not tell his companions, Tarzan knew that their situation was more than desperate.

Girls Should Learn To Cook | Dorothy Dix | Mothers Need to Teach Daughters

IN NEW YORK A BRIDES' SCHOOL has been established in which newlyweds are being taught how to market, cook, set a table and clean up a room and, according to reports, it is swamped with pupils.

It is gratifying to know that there are still young wives who realize that they can't make a happy home with a can-opener and a cocktail-shaker, and who are setting out to learn some of the technique of the job they have undertaken. The success of any marriage depends just as much upon the wife knowing how to fry the bacon as it does upon the husband bringing it home.

But what a shame and outrage it is that mothers should send their daughters into marriage so ignorant of all domestic arts that they have to go to school to learn the things they should have been taught in their younger days. How cruel to thrust an untrained girl into the midst of the most complicated profession on earth without teaching her even the first principles of how to practice it! How dishonest to foist on an unsuspecting young man a wife who will throw his salary in the garbage can and poison him with bad food!

Inasmuch as all mothers expect their daughters to marry, and most of them do marry, it is inexplicable that they do not fit them for the careers they are to follow. Every woman knows that successful marriage depends more upon the skill with which the wife runs the house than upon any other one thing, and that a talent for making a man comfortable will go farther toward retaining a husband's affections than any other gift that heaven can bestow upon a woman.

The mothers' excuse for not teaching their daughters the things they will most need to know after marriage is always that they wanted to "save" their girls from any work as long as they could, and that the girls will learn how to cook when they have to, just as they did. They didn't know how to boil water without scorching it when they were married and, look, now they are the blue-ribbon cake-makers of the community!

They forget their trials and tribulations as brides when they were learning how to cook. They forget the tears they shed over soggy pies and burned meat and underdone potatoes. And, most of all, they forget the disgust of their husbands at their incompetence and the bitter quarrels over wasted money and meals that would have killed an ostrich. They ignore the fact that if their mothers had only taught them how to cook before marriage instead of leaving them to that they would have been saved a lot of grief and prevented from learn how by experimenting on the unfortunate men they had married, turning their husbands into dyspeptic grouches.

In nine cases out of ten the first shadow on the honeymoon is cast by the bride's lack of domestic knowledge. Strangely enough, men never inquire during the days of courtship into girls' skill with the pots and pans. They take it for granted that a knowledge of how to cook comes by nature to all women, and that their young wives will be able to make bread like mother used to make. Hence it comes to them with a shock that they never get over to find that Angel Face doesn't know spring lamb from old goat, and that the things she can do to make food inedible is past believing So these quarrels.

The old adage about "the way to hold a husband's affections is to feed the brute" still holds good. No way of keeping a man tied to his own fireside is so effective as making him so comfortable he will not want to stir from it. Beauty may fade, wit pall, romance wear out, but a man retains his stomach long after he has lost his hair and his heart, and the woman who can set her husband down to a good dinner in a peaceful and quiet home at the end of a hard day's work can snap her fingers at the siren. She has a charm that never fails.

It pays a woman to be a good housekeeper, because when she marries she takes her husband's health into her hands, and whether he is hale and hearty and going strong at middle age or a semi-invalid laid on the shelf is largely due to the way she feeds him; and to whether his home is a place of turmoil that frets his nerves to fiddle-strings or a haven of quiet in which he can gather up strength for the next day's work. Many a man wrecks his future by quarreling with his boss, or insulting a good customer or by turning down a good proposition because of a breakfast of weak coffee and gooey cereal and heavy rolls. A lot of bankruptcy as well as divorce could be saved by good breakfasts.

All of this being true, and the happiness and the prosperity of a marriage depending so much on the wife's housekeeping, it is good to hear that the bride school is pinch-hitting for mother, and teaching the newlyweds what their mothers should have taught them.

UNCLE WIGGILYS SNOW SHOES

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily sat at a window in his hollow stump bungalow looking out. Snow covered the ground. Playing in the snow were many boy and girl animals who were having fun.

All of a sudden Uncle Wiggily said:

"I think I could do that."

"Do what?" asked his rabbit lady wife hopping into the room just then. "Do what, Wiggy?"

"Oh, never mind, my dear," he answered. "I guess I was sort of talking in my sleep."

"Your sleep!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears. "Why you aren't asleep."

"I know I'm not now," said Uncle Wiggily with a funny little twinkle of his pink nose. "I'm awake. I must have been day dreaming."

"Aren't you going out to have an adventure?" asked Mrs. Longears. "Not that I want to get rid of you," she said with a laugh. "But you almost always go adventuring."

TALKING TO HIMSELF

"Yes, and I'm going now," said Mr. Longears. "I think I can do it," he said again and out of the bungalow he hurried before his wife could ask him again what he thought he could do.

The truth of the matter was Uncle Wiggily had seen some of the animal boys walking on top of the snow with snow shoes. Not regular snow shoes such as are worn in Canada, where they have jolly good winters, but home-made shoes of barrel staves. The animal boys had knocked apart an old barrel and tied the long staves to their feet. These broad pieces of barrel wood kept them from sinking down in the snow.

"Yes, I think I can make some snow shoes and have some fun walking around on them," said the rabbit gentleman. "But if I told my wife or Nurse Jane I was going snow shoe walking they wouldn't let me. They'd say I am childish enough without that. So I'll have to do it secretly."

Uncle Wiggily knew where there was an old barrel back of his garage. He broke out some of the staves and tied them on his feet.

"Now I have snow shoes," said the rabbit gentleman. "I'll walk here by myself first until I practice a bit. Then I'll go over and show the children how well I do it."

At first Uncle Wiggily slid and shuffled along quite well on top of the snow, the barrel stave shoes holding him up. But, all of a sudden, while trying to walk on top of a deep drift, Mr. Longears took a wrong step, his left foot tripped over his right foot and down into the deep snow he fell, head first.

He wasn't hurt, for the snow was soft, but he couldn't turn himself right side up again. The long barrel stave snow shoes stuck up out of the hole in the drift. At the bottom of the hole was Uncle Wiggily's head. The snow got up his nose and made him sneeze.

"If I could only shake these barrel staves off my feet I could turn right side up and get out," he said to himself. "I'll try." So he wiggled his paws with the snow shoes on that stuck out out of the hole.

"Oh, here's two fine barrel staves for snow shoes! I'll take 'em!"

Buster pulled at the staves, but they were fastened to Uncle Wiggily's paws and the rabbit boys were much surprised to hear a voice in the hole.

"That's right! Take my snow shoes off, Buster, and I can turn right side up and get out," said Mr. Longears. So Buster did this and when his daddy scrambled up out of the hole they all laughed. So did Mrs. Longears when she heard about it. But Uncle Wiggily didn't care. And if the rubber boots will stop trying to walk on top of the custard pie I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's popcorn party.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1964

After the morning hours benefic aspects rule strongly today, according to astrology. This is a time for promoting business or professional matters and may be more fortunate for men than for women.

The stars appear to presage great activity among engineers, naval officers and military commanders. Again masculine strength, both mental and physical, will be at a premium.

Industry is subject to the most stimulating planetary influences. Jupiter as well as Saturn will encourage manufacturing and merchandising.

There will be world opportunities for those who are thoroughly trained in the sciences. Chemists now will profit. Great discoveries will change methods of war on sea and land.

Aspects of the moon are read as presaging strikes and riots. Fires may be more numerous than usual this month, and a disaster is foretold.

Deaths of prominent persons are prognosticated. A motion picture producer will end his career and there will be much illness in the national capital, where pneumonia may be prevalent.

Warning again is given that speculation and all forms of wooing the god of chance will be widespread this winter. Horse racing may cause a scandal affecting young persons.

Pleasure will be sought recklessly as the winter wanes. The signs seem to foreshadow the usual wild gayety that precedes war excitement. Peace lovers should be untiring in their efforts before the coming of spring.

Children born on this day probably will be independent and self-contained. Subjects of this sign are usually industrious and practical, fearless and ambitious.

Charles A. Lindbergh, aviator, was born on this day, 1902. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Mark Hopkins, educator and statesman, 1802. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Mark Hopkins, educator and statesman, 1802, and Jean Richepin, French poet, novelist and dramatist, 1849. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

C. S. Allen and C. M. Forrest, fishing Friday in the Cowichan River, secured two nine-pound steelhead trout. They were caught on the Red Devon Minnow and the fly. Mr. Forrest formerly of Shanghai, has taken a keen interest in the fine fishing to be had in the rivers near Victoria.

Lifeboat Equipped With Wireless Set

TO DISCHARGE LARGE CARGO

President Jefferson, Due Wenesday, Has 400 Tons; Other Waterfront Activities

There are 400 tons of general Orient freight in the holds of the inbound liner President Jefferson of the American Mail Line, due here early Wednesday morning from ports in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan. The ship is expected to dock here between 7 and 8 o'clock Wednesday morning and will remain in port about two hours before proceeding to Seattle.

The Jefferson is also bringing passengers for this port as well as Canadian and British mails.

The Royal Mail vessel Loch Katrine, Capt. Sam Weller, docked at Odgen Point yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from Rotterdam and London, via the Panama Canal and California. She discharged 200 tons of cargo before proceeding to Vancouver at 10 o'clock in the evening.

The freighter Silverbelle left Odgen Point Saturday evening and went to Vancouver. Yesterday morning the Hadeigh cleared for Crofton. Wednesday morning King Brothers expect the Ss. Everleigh here to load a parcel of Vancouver Island lumber.

Inbound from Japan, the N.Y.K. motorship Heian Maru is off Victoria late this afternoon on her way to Vancouver and Seattle. She was due at the William Head quarantine station at 5 o'clock.

Tomorrow night or early Wednesday morning will see the arrival of the Dutch motorship Delftdyk from Europe ports. She is bringing passengers and cargo to Victoria.

With a light cargo for discharge at Victoria, the Donaldson freighter Gregalia, Capt. A. Murray, reached the Rithet piers this morning at 7.45 o'clock. She proceeded to Vancouver at 9.30 o'clock.

The Ss. Hadleigh, which left here yesterday morning will be the first deep-sea freighter to take cargo from the new wharf of the Osborne Bay Wharf Company at Crofton. She will load 300,000 feet of lumber from the Mayo mill. This new wharf is expected to handle a fair proportion of the lumber cut in the Cowichan district.

When completed the new wharf will be one-third of a mile long and will provide at its outer end a birth for deep-sea vessels. R. H. L. McDowell, formerly in charge of the MacMillan wharf at Nanaimo has been appointed supervisor. The wharf will be handled by the customs of Chemainus, four miles north.

Ss. President Grant Sailed From Victoria Saturday With Latest in Modern Equipment

When the Ss. President Grant cleared from Victoria Saturday evening for the Orient she was one of the few liners operating out of Northwest ports to carry a wireless-equipped lifeboat.

During her lay-over in Seattle a radio transmitting set was installed in the President Grant's forward port side motor lifeboat in accordance with the United States Federal safety-at-sea law passed by Congress as a result of the Morro Castle and Mohawk disasters on the Atlantic.

ANTENNA MASTS

The motor lifeboat is equipped with two eighteen-foot antenna masts which can be raised after the craft clears the side of the ship. Power for the wireless life apparatus is supplied by a battery-driven generator.

The receiver and transmitter are inclosed in a water-tight metal contained placed forward in the lifeboat under a five-foot protective hood. The wireless set, rated at seventy-five watt, transmits on the international distress frequency and by law is required to carry at least 100 miles during the day. However, recent tests showed that it worked perfectly up to 300 miles.

The wireless set installed in the power lifeboat of the President Grant was built by Heintz & Kaufman Ltd., constructing radio engineers of San Francisco. Similar sets will be installed in the power lifeboats of the other units of the American Mail Line fleet. The equipment is designed and built to meet the requirements of the Bureau of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection and Bureau of Communications.

HAS POWER TO TOW

Equipped with wireless, the power lifeboat not only can tow other lifeboats laden with passengers or crew members from a ship that has met distress, but also will be able to summon aid from vessels at sea.

Numerous new rules and regulations governing the operation of American ships, structural changes and additional equipment, also will go into effect.

One of the most important devices adopted in the Safety-at-Sea Campaign, is one for the lowering of lifeboats with the danger of overturning or upending reduced to a minimum. Many of the new regulations relate to construction, fitness of materials and bulkhead tests. Others require additional lifeboats, life rafts and buoyant equipment on coastwise vessels, enough to accommodate all persons on board, of which equipment not less than 35 per cent must be regulation lifeboats, 35 per cent collapsible lifeboats or life rafts and 30 per cent buoyant apparatus.

Deepwater ships, where reasonable and practical, must be provided with an efficient means of communication between the pilot-house and the emergency steering station and steering-engine room. The emergency steering wheel must be on the after weather deck.

PILOTS' LOOKOUT

Hayo Maru passed Victoria, bound Vancouver, 12.10 a.m.

Tejon passed Victoria, bound Vancouver, 2.50 a.m.

Gregalia docked Victoria from England, 7.45 a.m., proceeded to Vancouver, 9.30 a.m.

Hadleigh to leave Crofton for Vancouver, Monday p.m.

URGES TRIPS TO FAR EAST

C. A. Cotterell, on Return From Orient, Tells of Value of Japan Visit

"It is a pity every British Columbia business man can not find it possible to visit the Far East, particularly Japan. The trip would be an education, enlightening and of inestimable value in a practical sense," said C. A. Cotterell, assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, at Vancouver when he was here Saturday aboard Ss. Empress of Japan.

Mr. Cotterell sailed by the Empress of Canada, December 28, by way of Honolulu, and had about ten days in Japan before picking up the Japan for the return trip. In that time, through the friendly co-operation of industrial and railway leaders in Japan, he was able to see much of the country, particularly those cities where most of the industrial life of the nation is centred.

One of his pleasant experiences was to be guest of honor at a New Year luncheon of the Japan-Canada Society where Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian minister to Japan, also was invited as official Canadian representative but was unable to attend through illness.

JAPANESE LEADERS

Chief speaker at this interesting luncheon was Baron Y. Sakatani, Mr. Cotterell said, and this great industrialist, a member of the House of Peers, explained that for Japanese the New Year represented the Great Purification ceremony, intended to purge the country of all evil memories and influences. Many other Japanese industrialists were present, too, he said, notably the chairman of the great Mitsui Company, J. Inoue, and Baron Sakatani, with true Japanese courtesy, welcomed Mr. Cotterell and ended his remarks by proposing a toast to his health.

Japanese business leaders, Mr. Cotterell said, appear just as jubilant regarding restoration of Japanese-Canadian trade by tariff revision on the Canadian side as are British Columbians.

This was made clear, he said, by Baron Sakatani's speech at the New Year luncheon when the Japanese industrial leader said, in part: "For many years, the relationship between Japan and Canada has been peaceful and friendly but unfortunately the stained trade situation between the two countries last year cast upon their sky a dark cloud. But again causes of difficulty between us were swept away by the wise and tactful conference between the two governments at the close of last year and we welcomed the new year of a better understanding without a speck of cloud in the sky. This is a matter of deep satisfaction for which we should congratulate ourselves. We are by no means insensitive to the embarrassing position into which the Canadian minister, Sir Herbert Marler, was placed during the days of unrest and we all recognize how patiently he had endeavored to restore the time-honored good relations."

GREAT INDUSTRIES

Of Japan's industrial development, Mr. Cotterell formed an unforgottable image. "I can never forget," he said, "looking out on the industrial area of Osaka where giant chimneys lifted their heads into the sky for what seemed miles, and they were so thickly set together that the whole looked like one of our big B.C. forests. Their cities teem with life—Tokio has 4,000,000 people—and from the deck of the Empress of Japan in Yokohama harbor I counted thirty deepsea ships within easy distance."

To Air-condition Trains In Canada

C.P.R. and C.N.R. to Have Some of Their Cars Ready This Summer; Work of Installation Now Going Ahead

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Canadian railways are making arrangements to introduce air-conditioning into their train services. This was announced today in a joint statement issued by the managements of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, and the coming summer will see several trains so equipped on the more traveled lines of both companies.

The work of air-conditioning present equipment will be undertaken gradually so that the types of air-conditioning devices used will be the best and latest obtainable. The air-conditioned equipment will be operated throughout the year adding to the comfort of passengers during both winter and summer. The object is to have the air in passenger cars clean and pure at all times and the temperature agreeable, irrespective of the winter or midsummer temperatures, which may exist outside of the car.

ELIMINATE DUST

It is the aim to eliminate dirt and dust entirely and reduce the noise to a minimum. Committees of mechanical and traffic officers of the two Canadian railway systems have been quietly but thoroughly making investigations on air-conditioning devices for passenger equipment for a considerable time, studying in particular the success obtained with the various types which have been in use, determining their relative efficiency and economy.

The railroad officers state they early recognize that air-conditioning will eventually be in common use, and their researches have been made with a view of ensuring the travelers in Canada air-conditioning which would embody all the known improvements.

After being cleansed, cooled, or heated to the desired temperature the air is released into the cars through special ducts to avoid drafts, and ventilators pass out the used air.

Air-tight windows and doors are necessary in successful air-conditioning and also to eliminate dirt and reduce noise.

The work of installing the air-conditioning equipment on Canadian National and Canadian Pacific cars is now going forward.

The question of what class cars will first receive the new type of equipment is also being considered. For the present year it is likely to be confined to sleeping, parlor and observation cars.

It is anticipated, however, that the air-conditioning will be gradually extended to practically all important mainline trains.

JAPANESE WANT PLACE IN SUN

University of Michigan Professor Found Them Extremely Patriotic

Japanese, as a race, possess a virility of mind and spirit which was America's in the pioneer era, but which seems to be becoming a thing of the past on this continent.

So thinks Prof. R. B. Hall, authority on Far Eastern affairs and professor of geography at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, who arrived here Saturday with Mrs. Hall and their two children after an eight-month sojourn in Japan, where the youthful geographer and lecturer lived in the native fashion in Japanese cities in order to "really get to know the people." They arrived on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan.

The Japanese have definite ideas about their coming place in the sun, he said. Patriotic to the extreme they are solidly behind those of their leaders who want to further the nation in conquest, expansion and industrial and commercial improvement, and will have no part of politicians who advocate "international amity" at the price of Japanese pride and prestige, said Dr. Hall.

LOVE OF COUNTRY

In private life courteous, considerate, industrious and honest, foreigners cannot help but like and admire them, said the Michigan professor, and the better they are known the better they are liked. In the mass mind, however, is the naive faith and worship of their beloved Dai Nippon; nationally they are solidly behind the aspiration of their army and navy, and no sacrifice is too great—it is even welcome—for their country.

Dr. Hall took a party of University of Michigan students out to Japan early last summer and stayed on after they returned to complete his own Japanese observations. These, he explained, have an important connection with his university which is now lining up an ambitious programme of Far Eastern studies. Many Michigan graduates, the young professor added, have gone far in administrative posts in the Far East, and the interest of the institution in this branch of study is perhaps natural.

Advocate of a "broader" education, Dr. Hall said American universities should break away from conventional lines and give students in various faculties a chance to learn what other faculties can teach. The study of geography by mathematics students was an example of this idea, he said. "It couldn't hurt them and it would broaden them; that is what my university has in mind," he concluded.

PLANE FELL INTO WATER

The pilot, Harold Gillam; the mechanic, Buddy Seltenreics, both of Cordova, and two passengers, Jack Metzger, Anchorage, and Elmer Hedstrom, Cordova, jumped from the sinking plane to an ice floe.

Leaving Cordova in the afternoon, the plane ran into strong headwinds which retarded it forty-five minutes of the usual hour and a half run.

Gillam encountered fog over Anchorage and went to Eklutna, twenty-five miles away, where he touched the ship's wheels to the ground, but raised it again when he saw visibility beneath the fog was good. He tried to hedge hop to Anchorage, but swung back toward Eklutna as the gasoline ran out.

Pilots Steve Mills and Kenneth Neese of Anchorage had heard the ship circling in the fog. When they heard the crash, they organized a rescue party.

Three Seamen Thought Dead

Associated Press

San Diego, Feb. 3.—Three seamen, missing after an explosion shattered the tuna clipper Olimpia, were hunted today amid debris-strewn waters off Cape San Lucas at the southern tip of Lower California.

Five other members of the crew blown clear of the wreckage, were reported to have been picked up late yesterday by the Romanica, another purse-seiner.

Three missing sailors, all believed dead, are: John Toso, engineer; August Vollmer and Albert Zolezzi.
